Mill Valley's Al Almcrantz Quits Post

A. E. Almcrants today submitted his resignation as city manager of Mill Valley to the five city councilmen to become effective Dec. 31.

The resignation climaxed continuing reports of friction between the city manager and city council.

Mayor Joseph E. Sheeks said of the resigniation, "I suspected this might be coming."

WANTS TEAMWORK

Last year the council hired William R. Zion, a government consultant, to investigate operation of the city administration. On Oct. 15, 1962, the council held an unannounced luncheon meeting with Zion in San Fancisco to discuss his findings and, according to Mayor Sheeks, to make them "more publishable," Zion's report, made public the following week, said better teamwork between council and manager was needed.

The 49-year-old city manager gave no reason for the resignation in his brief letter. Asked to comment, he said he "couldn't and wouldn't." He made no statement about his plans, leaving town immediately after handing copies of his letter to the press.

15 YEARS

Employed by the city for 15 years, Almcrants first worked as director of public works, starting in 1948. He held that post three year, then was named city manager.

"During the past 15 years," Almcrants told councilmen in the letter addressed to mayor Sheeks, "We have traversed many difficult paths and solved many knotty problems, all of which would not have been possible without whole-hearted and sincere cooperation between councils, employees and the electorate."

He wrote that he enjoyed the privilege of working for the city in "resolving many of the problems that a city must face. I believe we have a very conscientious group of employees who work long and hard on behalf of the city and it is with regret that I must relinquish the association with these 64 employees."

OWN HOME

Almcrants owns his own home at 242 Eldridge Avenue where he lives with his wife, Millie, and daughter, Linda. His salary is $1,074 per month.

"Al has been a very conscientious employee of the city," said Sheeks. "He has displayed many fine qualities as city manager and he will be missed by the city government and the community generally."

Milkman's Leg Trapped Over Hour

A Santa Venetia milkman was in "fair to good" condition in Marin General Hospital today after his right foot was trapped for more than an hour under a truck that rolled over two and one-half times in Tiburon about 2:30 p.m. yesterday.

Kenneth Jack Kelly, 57, of 843 Rincon Way suffered head injuries and cuts of the forehead and left leg, the hospital said. The California Highway Patrol said he also suffered left ankle and right foot injuries.

Tiburon firemen John Zunich and Larry Vogel, volunteer fireman Ray Coombs, and Dr. Michael D. Scholl of Belvedere dug for more than an hour and worked with jacks to release Kelly.

The driver, employed by Berkeley Farms, said he was northbound on Centro East Avenue about 70 feet north of Diviso Street when a small blue car rounded a curve toward him on the wrong side of the road.

Kelly said as he swerved to the right the truck left the road and knocked down a county traffic sign. The truck's load shifted, causing it to swing around and plunge backward for more than 50 feet down a slope, rolling over twice and stopping upside down against two oak trees.

Smashed milk bottles and other products covered a wide area, reported Highway Patrol Officers Archie Stewart and M. G. Williams.

After helping free Kelly, Dr. Scholl also gave him sedation and first aid.

Wild Elephant Invades Store

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A carnival elephant bolted, trampled through a crowded department store, kicked an elderly man and led police and thousands of citizens on a two-mile chase last night.

City police pumped more than 20 rifle slugs into the 3000-pound animal and killed it when it cornered its trainer, William Pratt, on a street.

The elephant rumbled out of its ring at the carnival and crashed into a department store through a front door.

Mill Valley's Out-Of-Town Group Meets

'Subcommittee' Goes Into Plan For Power Lines

By BRUCE COLEMAN

SAN FRANCISCO—"Lightoilers," "streamlining" and undergrounding of power and telephone lines in Mill Valley were discussed yesterday in the hygienic atmosphere of San Francisco's Franklin Hospital at a subcommittee meeting of the Mill Valley City Council.

Lunch, consisting of roast beef sandwiches, coffee and orange sherbet, was served at 12:30 p.m. in the spacious office of Vice Mayor George D. Monardo, acting chairman.

Two hours and 35 minutes later it was decided the subcommittee would meet again on request of representatives of Pacific Gas and Electric Co. and Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., who said they needed to confer with their offices.

CITY HALL NEXT

Monardo announced the next meeting would be Oct. 8 at 8:30 a.m. in the Mill Valley City Hall. "The public is invited," he added.

(Today Monardo informed the Independent-Journal the meeting has been moved up to Oct. 4 at the same hour and place since he must be in Los Angeles on Oct. 8.)

Yesterday's meeting was announced and open to the press. However, the time and place were not announced in time for members of the Mill Valley public to attend.

MEMBER MISSING

The subcommittee, Monardo said, was missing one member yesterday: Mayor Joseph E. Sheeks. Only Monardo and Councilman William M. Secor were present from the city council.

Representing PT&T were R. W. Kern, senior engineer, San Rafael, and Charles F. Berlenbach, manager of the Southern Marin office in Mill Valley. Representing PG&E were V. H. Lind, senior commercial analyst, San Francisco, and Edward R. Pedersen, manager of the Mill Valley-Sausalito office. All except Lind had to cross the Golden Gate Bridge from Marin County to attend the meeting.

Monardo said he and Secor will recommend to the full city council that PT&T and PG&E put utilities fully underground in the Lytton Square area from Throckmorton at Ethel Avenue to East Blithedale and Sunnyside avenues. Also, they will

Petitions For Incorporation Of Tiburon Filed In County

(Independent-Journal photo)

If All In Order Next Step For Boundries

Petitions for incorporation of a city of Tiburon, bearing some 700 signatures representing 35 per cent of the assessed valuation in the area to be incorporated, were filed today with County Clerk George Gnoss.

Mrs. Elva Paske, co-chairman of the Tiburon Incorporation Committee, and Mrs. Nikki Lamott, chairman of the petition committee, said the signers own real property within the proposed city to a total valuation of $1,620,000.

If the petitions are found in order, next step will be a public hearing on boundaries of the proposed city by the county board of supervisors. The board will then call for an election—probably early next year.

Gnoss will present the petitions, a total of 54, to the supervisors next Tuesday. He will have 30 days thereafter to verify signatures and property valuations, but said he expected to complete the checking in about a week.

"It was extraordinary how this time we found a difference of opinion in our search for petitioners," said Mrs. Lamott. "There was very little opposition."

Last year advocates of incorporation submitted petitions to the county clerk but during an attempt to find additional signatures, an opposition movement succeeded in obtaining 51 per cent of the assessed valuation, thus defeating incorporation for one year.

RAILROAD SIGNS

Among signers of the new petitions was Fred G. Zelinsky, Tiburon developer and property owner representing about $125,000 valuation. His holdings were second only to $249,180 in valuation of property owned by Northwestern Pacific Railroad in Tiburon. The railroad also signed the petitions, after previously declaring a neutral position in incorporation attempts.

Boundaries of the proposed city include Angel Island and extend to the San Francisco city line in the bay. The city would also include business property along Tiburon Boulevard next to the Belvedere city limit. The area was sought by Belvedere also, but the Tiburon incorporation group filed first for permission to circulate petitions. Boundaries would also extend to Corte Madera City limits near the upper side of Paradise Drive.

POSITIONS TAKEN

Mrs. Paske said the committee has adopted the following positions on matters affecting Tiburon's future:

1. "Annexation — Negotiations with Belvedere officialdom have made it clear that no annexations are contemplated that would include any substantial portions of the residential areas of the Tiburon Peninsula. If incorporation fails at the ballot, the Belvedere City Council intends to proceed with annexation of the business district, depriving any future city of Tiburon of its commercial tax base.

2. "City Council—Every effort should be made to insure area representation on the city council. It is further advocated that the council establish a policy that all employee positions be filled by competitive examination. It is hoped that a strong, able council will have

Marin Puts In Bid For Fair Funds

A proposed Marin County fair budget of $161,562 for next year, with emphasis on development of fairgrounds at the Civic Center, was submitted today for approval by the State Division of Fairs and Expositions.

The budget is $31,593 more than the 1963 budget and includes separate funds, for the fair at the Marin Art and Garden Center and for improvement of the grounds at the Civic Center, site of future county fairs.

County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell, in submitting the budget to the state, commented that the fair at the Art and Garden Center in Ross has "pretty much reached its saturation point." He made a similar comment last year when the Civic Center grounds were just undergoing initial development.

Major project for the fairgrounds at the Civic Center next year will be construction of a road from the fair site to the Terra Linda interchange on Highway 101. Of $80,000 budgeted for this, about $55,-

Mob Turncoat Tells Of 'Kiss Of Death'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gangster Joseph Valachi testified today he was a killer in the New York job of Vito Genovese, but wound up getting the "kiss of death"—a sentence to be murdered—from Genovese himself in a federal prison.

A grandfatherly looking man of 60, save for iron-gray hair dyed a glowing reddish brown, Valachi showed little emotion as he told his story at the Senate Investigations subcommittee's new probe of organized crime.

He testified he killed a fellow convict in 1962 in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., whom he mistakenly believed was a Genovese assassin about to kill him, but the subcommittee left for later a recital of details about many other killings.

Valachi had testified he got no help from Genovese's mob —which he said was a unit of the nation-wide crime syndicate, La Cosa Nostra—when he had trouble with the law over a long criminal career, but did get help in his "business" activities.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.) asked what Valachi did in return for this business help.

"I just go out and kill for them," Valachi answered.

Javits asked whether this was a way to describe mutual protection in which Valachi would "kill off or otherwise handle people who were bothering him (Genovese)."

"Yes, sir," Valachi replied in a husky voice.

Valachi testified that after he got the "kiss of death" from Genovese, he was promptly set up to be killed in a rigged prison fight.

He said he spotted the plot, avoided being trapped and then later killed a fellow inmate of the prison with an iron pipe. It turned out, he related, that he had been wrong about the identity of the man he thought was a Genovese mobster out to kill him.

In the first hours of what may be two or three days of testimony, Valachi never got into any detail about the crime

It Should Be Cooler, But Still Hot

The Weather Bureau today predicted freezing weather. It will not come until January sometime, but meanwhile, it's fun to think about.

It was slightly cooler today after yesterday's record heat, but the weatherman said not to expect a cold spell for at least a week. Temperatures will be above normal through Wednesday. (See photo page 9)

Tomorrow will be slightly cooler than today, but that does not mean it will not be hot.

A peak, unofficial reading of 108 in Santa Venetia yesterday topped Marin's temperature readings. Highest official reading was 105 recorded in San Anselmo, the hottest September reading in at least 13 years.

It had not been so warm in the Hub City since July 17, 1961, when the mercury boiled at 108.

Yesterday's unofficial reading in Santa Venetia was taken at 3 p.m. by J. L. Chase of 10 Garden Avenue. His back porch thermometer is about a block from the Civic Center. Reading at 4:30 p.m. at the Civic Center was 98.

All stations reported slightly cooler weather today. Heavy fog shrouded Tomales Bay State Park this morning. The wind, blowing hot from the east yesterday, had shifted around the southwest and cooled somewhat today, according to observations at the Mount Tamalpais fire lookout.

High temperature there yesterday was a relatively cool 89, but the temperature never fell below 75 last night.

Woodacre yesterday reported 99; San Rafael and Novato, 98; Fairfax, 94, and Mill Valley 92.

President Asserts Goldwater Policies Would Be 'Retreat'

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—President John F. Kennedy has taken sharp issue with some of the foreign policy ideas advanced by Sen. Barry Goldwater. Kennedy said these and other proposals backed by some conservatives would lead the nation into a "dangerous world of retreat — not of strength."

Kennedy did not mention by name the Arizona Republican who may be his GOP opponent in the 1964 presidential campaign. But he included some Goldwater policies in a catalogue of what he termed unacceptable proposals advanced by ultraconservatives.

In a major address last night before a full house of 8,000 at the historic Mormon Tabernacle, Kennedy argued that these policies would be "fatal to our national security" and "invite a Communist expansion."

Without question, Kennedy in this speech went farther than ever before toward challenging Goldwater. But he went beyond that and took issue with the whole political force often labeled "the radical right."

He did so in a state where conservative sentiment, always strong, has seemed on the rise.

The president contended that under the policies of his administration "the Communist offensive has been thwarted and turned back in recent months."

He insisted the gains could be lost by a return to conservative attitudes which he likened to those of the McKinley era.

In particular the president criticized proposals to break off diplomatic relations "with all states whose principals we dislike," to withhold aid from countries "whose governments are run differently from our own" and to resume atmospheric nuclear testing.

Kennedy summed up his response to those who would abandon the United Nations, end foreign aid, resume atmospheric nuclear tests, and cut diplomatic ties with the Soviet Union by saying:

"In world affairs as in all other aspects of life, the days of the quiet past are gone forever."

And with the help of present policies, he contended, "the Communist offensive has been thwarted and turned back in recent months."

ARMISTICE TABLE 'PUPPET' GIGGLES

N. Korean Laughs When Told By Transferring Yank Superior Puts Words In His Mouth

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UPI) — The outgoing American secretary of the United Nations Command military armistice commission announced today he was being transferred to a new assignment.

His Communist North Korean counterpart promptly made a "farewell statement" calling the American "extremely insincere," "vulgar," "brazen-faced" and "arrogant."

But when U.S. Army Col. Vincent F. Goodsell told Communist Secretary Col. Han Joo Kyung that he didn't really feel that way but merely was being a puppet in mouthing words put in his mouth by his superiors, Han and four aides broke into giggles and laughter.

Goodsell told the Communists that he was leaving Korea after two years and four months of service and presented credentials of his successor, Col. Paul P. Hinkley. Hinkley will take over Oct. 1.

The Smoot-Hawley tariff act, enacted in 1930, carried the highest protective rates in the nation's history.

NEW NAVAL GUN SYSTEM

There are 887 armor-piercing 20-mm cannon shells visible in this picture, hardly more than one-third the complete load for the three pods (under a Navy A-4 jet) of the HIPEG gun system (high performance external gun). The system which fire at the rate of 12,600 rounds per minute on pin-point targets would fire the shells pictured in about four seconds. The system was developed by the Hughes Tool Co.'s Aircraft Division and tested at China Lake by the Navy. (UPI photo)

Board Approves Preliminary Plans For College Center

Project On Marin Campus Estimated To Cost $747,000

Preliminary plans for a new College of Marin student center, estimated to cost $747,700, were approved by the Marin Junior College District board last night.

At a study session at 5:30 p.m. and at the board's regular meeting at 8 p.m., Falk and Booth, architects and engineers, explained the project is up $275,041 over the estimate of March, 1962, because:

1. New plans envision a building of 32,198 square feet, up 6,264 over previous plans, to add a faculty dining room and lounge, a meeting room and an amphitheater.

2. Costs have increased about 60 cents a square foot in the past 18 months.

3. Earlier plans did not include site work of $61,500, drainage and fill at the West service drive, estimated at $7,700, and a fire alarm, signal system and additional underground telephone conduits at $23,000.

Plans for the project near the old industrial arts building were discussed at the two public meetings by structural engineer Mark Falk, architect Corey Booth and consultants Wesley Hull and Theodore Stolte of the firm.

The main cost, the building itself, is estimated at $619,100.

The first floor will include a main dining room for students, faculty dining room and lounge, and snack bar. The student dining room will extend through a well to the ceiling above the second floor.

The upper floor will include rooms for student government offices, a publications room, photographic facilities, a student lounge, a meeting room and the campus bookstore.

Trustee Kent O. Seymour said, "We can't start construction before next year. We haven't the money."

(Construction began Sept. 13 on a gymnasium complex to cost $1,480,479.)

The Marin Junior College District board also:

1. Heard a report from Business Mgr. Norman Bird that traffic regulation has improved since a campus policeman was hired to tag illegally parked cars, and approved changes in the college traffic resolution.

2. Awarded Dill and Sederberg of Mill Valley, lowest of seven bidders at $6,585, a contract for a new boiler.

3. Referred to county counsel and a citizens foundation committee planning dormitories an offer by Mr. and Mrs. Robert I. Marty of Kentfield to sell a parcel of land on Hillside Avenue near the area planned for college dormitories for $17,000.

4. Received a report from Harry J. Pieper, head of physical education, that cost for student insurance has dropped from $3 per student to $2 because of the college's low loss record.

5. Hired Hardy Westmore as fulltime custodian at $410 per month and Neil Williams as data processing tabulator operator at $2.50 per hour for 20 hours a week.

College Board To Work On Flood Cause

The Marin Junior College District board will do all possible to avoid having the new College of Marin physical education complex cause flooding of College Park subdivision in Larkspur, members promised last night.

Trustees gave the assurance to Mrs. Dirk Van Meurs of 26 College Park when she appeared before the board after 20 residents were addressed at 7:45 p.m. by structural engineer Mark Falk.

Mrs. Van Meurs said floods last winter came within an inch of going over a bulkhead near Tamalpais Creek and she feared fill work of the gym complex would aggravate conditions. She said 16 homes might be flooded. She said the creek is thinner than it ever has been before and is full of silt.

Falk said his firm would scrutinize the area and report to the board.

Board president Robert E. Rogers said the board would act to prevent flooding as result of college construction and would ask the county to remove brush and other obstacles that might cause flooding from county territory.

The board decided to notify Mrs. Van Meurs and her neighbors when Falk is scheduled to make his report so they may discuss the situation further with trustees.

State Real Estate Unit To Fight Housing Law

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The California Real Estate Assn. has put up $10,000 for use in a campaign to repeal a state law regulating the sale, lease or rental of homes and apartments.

The CREA, in a closing session of its annual conference yesterday said it has alloted the funds to get signatures on petitions calling for a vote on a constitutional amendment outlawing the Rumford act.

The act, which became law last week, prohibits discrimination of any sort in the lease, rental or sale of most California housing.

Outgoing president L. S. Wilson of Fresno said the CREA, the California Home Builders Council and the California Apartment Owners Assn. would act through a joint committee, called Americans for Individual Freedom, to try to upset the act.

An initiative to submit a repeal vote to the people in November, 1964, would require 468,259 signatures before next June.

Earlier in the convention, Gov. Edmund Brown praised the CREA for not supporting an unsuccessful referendum movement brought by another group against the bill.

Wilson said the CREA believes in "equal rights and equal opportunity for all—including all minority races—but also including all other Americans. We oppose class legislation, special rights laws, or special privileges for any group or groups."

Wilson, who refers to the Rumford Act as "the Forced Housing Act," says the act is the reverse of this philosophy.

An initiative to submit a repeal amendment to the 1963 Legislature would require 292,662 signatures by December, 1964. If the 1965 Legislature failed to adopt or act on the initiative proposal it would go to a popular vote in November, 1966. If it did adopt the repeal initiative, that, too, would be subject to referendum.

After November, 1964, more signatures might be required for either a referendum or initiative, since the number is based on the total vote for governor in the last previous election—5 per cent for referendums or initiatives to the legislature and 8 per cent for initiatives to the people.

In other sessions yesterday, the CREA elected Art S. Leitch, 52, of San Diego, to succeed Wilson. Leitch defeated Reg F. Dupuy, Long Beach; C. Larry Hoag, Downey, and Robert Compton of Compton.

Trustees Won't Attempt To Pre-Censor College Programs

Marin Junior College District trustees won't attempt to pre-censor programs presented at the college, although one trustee last night suggested it.

Trustee Joseph D. Gargiulo objected to granting the Marin Chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union permission to show a film. "Committee on Un-American Activities," at 8 p.m. Oct. 24 in Olney Hall, unless trustees first viewed the film to learn whether it is suitable.

Trustee Robert E. Oliver said he believed the board only granted approval to groups to use the facilities, and did not pass on subject matter, College President E. Epler agreed.

Herbert Blanchett, Epler's administrative assistant, was questioned. He said he had not seen the film and did not know what it was about except that "it is not about the San Francisco City Hall riots."

Trustee Kent O. Seymour said he agreed with Gargiulo but did not see what "we can do about it." He added he did not like to see Paine, Weber, Jackson and Curtis, stockbrokers, being charged for use of Olney Hall at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 3 for a forum "After the Berkeley cooperative got it free."

Epler said the cooperative was authorized free use of the hall under the Civic Center act but the brokerage firm was not. He said he assumes the cooperative was not charged "because it is non-profit."

"I'm not saying they (the firm) should not be charged. I think they should. I just think the cooperative should have been, too," said Seymour. Gargiulo said he agreed with Seymour on this. But after further discussion the board voted 5-0 approving free use by the ACLU and the customary charge to the brokerage firm.

Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. cable splicing crew works on 302-pair underground cable severed by bulldozer grading for San Marin development near Novato yesterday. The cable—trunk line between Ignacio and Santa Rosa—was severed by an Underground Construction Co. 'dozer only a few feet from two signs warning: "P.T.&T. Underground Cable." Gordon Davenport, North Marin manager for the phone company, said complete restoration would cost $5,000—which the contractor will have to pay. Temporary splicing kept crews busy until 5 p.m. yesterday, after cable was cut at 10:45 a.m. At work are, from left (rear) John Proffiet and Mike Stocking, (front) Robert Hook, Dick Weeder and Bud Stocking.

Bolinas Recreational Marina Chances Dim

Chances for a recreational marina at Bolinas lagoon appeared dimmer today with revelation that the Army Corps of Engineers has not yet been able to reconcile benefits with costs.

"Our report is not completed, and no conclusions have been drawn," said Reuben Johnson, chief of planning reports for the South Pacific Division of the Army Corps of Engineers.

"Our requirements are that benefits have to exceed costs, and so far we have not come up with anything to demonstrate that, but we're still working on it," he said.

Johnson said the report will not be released until it has been discussed with the Bolinas Harbor District Commission.

After the corps' survey of the harbor was reviewed by Johnson's office, it was sent back to the San Francisco district office.

John Stirton, engineer for the district office, said he did not know when the report would be completed, but at least a progress report would be made to the Bolinas Harbor District Commission at its Oct. 24 meeting.

At a meeting last night the commission told Kelvin J. Nelson, county parks and recreation director, that it will cooperate in installation of a proposed boat launching ramp. The State Wild Life Conservation Corps will provide the ramp at its expense if the commission provides the land and parking area. Nelson said the county will maintain the ramp.

COUNCIL

recommend the firms put utilities underground on the four blocks of Miller Avenue between Willow Street and Reed Avenue. (Since Sheeks was absent, no "recommendation" by a majority of the council could be arrived at.)

Both projects would be "phased out" over a 10-year period. In each case the city would propose to pay for the steel electolier light standards. (Electoliers are light standards fed from underground but with no wires visible above ground.) No cost figures were given.

The City of Mill Valley adopted an ordinance this summer providing that developers of new subdivisions may be required to place utilities underground.

For the past five years, while Secor was first on the city planning commission and later on the council, the city has been seeking to get utility lines underground, he said. "This subcommittee has been appointed to get the facts," he declared.

He said that if the council did not have subcommittee meetings, "Councilmen would spend so much time at the city hall they might as well bring their beds there."

The subcommittee is unanimous on going underground on a 10-15 year "phase-out" program, Monardo said. He indicated it does not want any interim "streamlining" program.

He said there are three choices: All underground, "lightoliers" with transfers in a landscaped area, and light standards with transformers on their tops and with three lines at the top running from pole to pole.

The telephone company, said Kern, "is definitely in favor of underground as long as we are permitted to phase it out." Some parts of Mill Valley already have telephone lines underground.

Lind said PG&E feels Miller Avenue does not justify the costs of full underground service. He urged the city to accept a "streamling" utility on South Miller Avenue. This might be done in the next two years at no cost to the city, he said.

He also said that, because the load is not heavy enough, underground installation is not feasible on the residential north Miller. He said he favors underground in Lytton Square in a 10-year program. He could give no definite time for undergrounding lines on East Blithedale Avenhe between Sunnyside and Sycamore avenes.

000 will be raised by a special county fair tax of nearly two cents.

Next year's operating budget for the July fair at Ross will be $92,521, an increase of $9,749 over this year. State pari-mutuel funds will supply $65,000 of this, with the rest to be recovered from expected admission and concession revenues.

Landscaping of the Civic Center fairgrounds will be continued next year with state participation proposed at $4,500 in addition to $64,041 from county funds which have been approved by the board of supervisors.

The county share, including some funds carried over, will be added toward road construction and further ground improvements.

In addition to the proposed fair budget, the county expects to receive about $105,000 next year toward capital improvement funds for use in construction of an amphitheater at the new grounds. A total of $210,000 has already been accumulated.

QUITS

Asked to comment on councilman Michael Wornum's statement on Sept. 17 that some of the councilmen seemed to be out to replace Almcrants, Sheeks replied: "I don't agree with that."

"I think there has been an increasing degree of friction between the city manager and council, mostly on disagreements as to how things could be done. A year or so ago the council debated to some extent as to whether or not Al should be given a salary increase .. . it may be Al felt there was some limitation to his opportunity here."

Councilman George D. Monardo, vice mayor, said he had not received his copy of the letter but said,"I with Al success and best wishes in his new endeavors."

Councilmen Michael Wornum and George Blackwell could not be reached for comment.

Collier Hopes To Get 101 In Freeway Plan

UKIAH (AP)—A Washington conference to get U.S. 101 into the interstate freeway system will be pushed by Sen. Randolph Collier, chairman of the state Senate Transportation Committee.

The Yreka Democrat told the Redwood Empire Assn. yesterday he plans to meet in the nation's capital early next month with congressional delegations of California, Washington and Oregon.

He believes, with sufficient backing, it would be possible to get U.S. 101 into the freeway system from the Mexican to the Canadian border.

Collier said it may take as much as 300 million dollars to bring the highway up to standard and that this would proceed at too slow a pace if only state funds were available. In the federal-interstate system, 92 per cent of the money comes out of federal funds.

Noting that California expects to have 35 million people by 1980, Collier said his committee will consider proposals for a statewide system of airports. He said he believed these could be financed by a user tax similar to that on motorists.

Collier feels that mass rapid transit systems are a long way off, because cities are loathe to finance them until the situation has become intolerable.

syndicate's operations. Most of his testimony dealt with the incidents in the prison.

It was the attempts on his life, Velachi says, which led him to decide to tell his story to federal authorities.

In response to questions from Sen. Karl Mundt (R-S.D.), Valachi did say the rackets were very lucrative.

He said it would "break the adding machine" to try to calculate the vast sums Genovese has gather from them.

Valachi said his own take had run to $150,000 in a little more than a year during World War II.

His normal income was supplemented by selling ration stamps, he explained.

Genovese is under prison sentence now as a narcotics racketeer, but nevertheless reportedly still runs the mob.

Valachi described Genovese as not only the head of his family in the Cosa Nostra but as the "boss of bosses, under the table," the head man of the families in New York except for the Brooklyn group.

"This was the man I had the greatest respect for—the whole 30 years," Valachi said. "I even stuttered when I spoke to him sometimes — that's how much respect I had for him. He stood up for me at my wedding."

But after a 1960 narcotics conviction, when both were in Atlanta federal prison, Genovese "walked up to me and gave me a kiss," Valachi related. He said it was the kiss of death, and that he kissed Genovese back to show "I was smart . . . I was losing respect for him at this time.

4. "Police Protection—The continued development of the commercial area in Tiburon will make it even more necessary to provide for a law enforcement agency on the peninsula.

5. "Boundaries — The final boundaries were formulated by a representative committee of 25 residents from the major residential areas. The map as submitted allows for the wishes of the Bel Aire and Paradise Cove property owner groups which asked to be included. It also allows for common boundaries with the adjoining incorporated areas of Corte Madera, Belvedere and San Francisco.

6. "Taxes—Until the board of supervisors set the final boundaries, accurate projection of a tax rate is impossible. As soon as the county board sets the final boundaries, the committee will secure the available facts and figures from the State Board of Equalization and make them available to all residents."

Rep. Clausen Talks Of 'Gag Rule' Taxes

By MICHAEL PERCY

"Everyone wants to see taxes cut," Rep. Donald H. Clausen declared last night in San Rafael, "but the bill that passed the House this week was a disappointment.

"Two hundred and seventy-one congressmen voted for the bill," he said, "and 155 voted against it. The 271 who voted for it, voted for a half measure." (Clausen was one of the 155 opposed.)

The freshman First District representative said the treatment of the 11-billion-dollar tax cut bill had been his first experience since going to Congress of seing the "gag rule" in action.

(The gag rule is a rule whereby a bill is sent from the ways and means committee to the House floor with the provision that no amendment be attached.)

"What we need is a tax bill with teeth in it," Clausen said, "a bill that will cut taxes while putting a curb on federal spending. And until we have a bill that will hold spending, I can't in good conscience vote for any cut-tax measure."

He said, however, the current bill isn't bad "as far as it goes," adding President John F. Kennedy will probably try to make political hay of it in the coming election.

Clausen said he'd picked a good time to learn the ropes in Washington because of the many heated issues now before Congress. (". . . and it looks like we'll be there till they're playing 'Jingle Bells,' " he said.)

Here are a few of the topics he touched on:

NUCLEAR TEST BAN—"We all want peace with justice, but we shouldn't build up any false enthusiasm. The Soviets have broken many treaties in the past and they could again. It's only a piece of paper but we should all hope for the intent of the treaty."

SINO-SOVIET RIFT—"Remember when Tito and Khrushchev seemed to be enemies? Well, they don't look that way now. I think of Russia and Red China like a husband and wife: they might flight during the day, but they make up at night."

CHINA AND THE BOMB—"I was filled in on the situation by an expert on Red China who told me: 'Look, first, they haven't got the bomb: and, second, what would they carry it in? A ricksha?'."

CIVIL RIGHTS—"I believe in equal rights for every American, but I will vote only for long range and a lasting civil rights legislation not for political expediency. I believe in self-help such as in the vocational education bill."

FOREIGN AID—"We pour millions into Africa and Latin America, and just as fast someone on top sends it off to their Swiss bank. You don't buy friends. I believe in the people-to-people, missionary system of private groups sending people to help people help themselves."

Throughout his talk Clausen stressed the philosophy of less centralized government and more state and local rule.

"You send a dollar to Washington, and get back 50 cents. I say that dollar is better off staying right here. . .

"They ask me if I'm a liberal or a conservative. And I tell them I'm a liberal when it comes to personal, individual rights, but a conservative when it comes to spending your—the taxpayer's—money."

Clausen flew in from Washington last night to speak to about 200 persons attending a family night dinner at the Masonic Building in San Rafael.

The former Del Norte County "flying supervisor" was introduced by San Rafael attorney Herbert K. Walton Jr., who dubbed him "our flying congressman."

Lucas Valley Sets Pool Cost Study

Lucas Valley Homeowners Assn. appointed a committee Wednesday to study costs of maintaining the subdivision's swimming pool, community center and television-FM cables.

Bruce Flanagan, president of the new association, said the Eichler development will probably be 51 per cent occupied by January, at which time the homeowners must be responsible for the operation of community facilities now maintained by Eichler Homes, Inc.

"We are considering the possibilities of forming a community services district, joining the Marinwood Community Services District or maybe even annexation by San Rafael," Flanagan said. San Rafael's recent annexation of the Pimentel Ranch would make annexation of Lucas Valley possible, he said, but there is "still the problem of maintenance of Lucas Valley Road."

Asst. County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney met last night with the homeowners to discuss legal aspect of district formation and annexation.

The group will meet again Oct. 24 at 8 p.m. in the Lucas Valley Community Center.

San Anselmo Boy Struck By Auto

A 6-year-old San Anselmo boy was injured at 6:20 p.m. yesterday when he ran from the driveway of his home into the street and was struck by a car, according to police.

David Ballard of 245 San Francisco Boulevard was in good condition today at Marin General Hospital with multiple scrapes and bruises.

Driver of the car, which was traveling south on San Francisco Boulevard, was Blanche Sanders, 16, of 404 San Francisco Boulevard, reported San Anselmo police.

Judge Holds Bias In Cafes Under Courts

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Only a "somewhat outmoded mid-Victorian" attitude keeps courts from banning discrimination in businesses such as restaurants and department stores, a California Supreme Court justice declared yesterday.

But, said Judge Matthew O. Tobriner, the courts may — without waiting for civil rights leglislation—take it on their own to forbid such discrimination.

The reason, he told the California State Bar Convention, is that service-type businesses are increasingly being considered "public service institutions."

This, he added, would bring them under the same anti-discrimination rulings courts have handed down regarding labor unions or medical societies.

Under such philosophy, Tobriner predicted. "The Birmingham department store will not be free to deny service at the lunch counter to a Negro."

Earlier, the lawyers were warned that great harm can result if they don't defend the courts against hostile attacks. The warning came from lawyer Arthur H. Dean, chief United States disarmament negotiator at Geneva in 1961-62.

Negro Moves There —Ohio Town 'Riots'

DAYTON, Ohio (UPI) — Reinforced police today maintained an uneasy peace in suburban Townview where a white residents' demonstration protesting the integration of the small community erupted into a riot last night.

No one was injured or arrested in the demonstration, but Sheriff Bernard Kiter, backed by 100 riot-trained deputies and police from seven communities, was forced to invoke the Ohio Riot Act to clear the streets.

Kiter said a 24-hour watch would be maintained in the neighborhood with enough manpower "to stop any trouble before it gets started."

About 100 teen-agers and children marched in front of the home of James Fuller last night chanting: "Two, four, six, eight, run the niggers out of state!"

Fuller, a Negro contractor, moved into Townview Tuesday with his wife and three young children.

Flying wedges of helmeted police armed with clubs broke up last night's riot, the second demonstration in the neighborhood in two days. They braved hurled rocks, eggs and bottles, cries of "Go!" and epithets. Fire equipment stood by during the two-hour riot, but was not used.

Kiter, addressing the mob of about 500 persons on a cruiser-mounted loudspeaker, said, "In the name of the State of Ohio I order you to go to your homes or places of employment. This is the riot act. I repeat, go to your homes or places of employment."

The order was greeted with louder catcalls and jeers, and Kiter was drowned out when he repeated it, adding "Someone may get hurt."

One of the rioters shouted, "We'll fight the police because them niggers is going!"

Kentfield Fire Chief Successor Action Delayed

Selection of a successor to Kentfield Fire Chief John Ralph McLeran was delayed last night as the fire district board postponed its monthly meeting.

Director Arthur L. Poganski was unable to attend and the three-man board prefers not meeting unless all are present, said chairman Joseph L. Smith.

The meeting was tentatively rescheduled for 8 p.m. Monday, said Smith.

McLeran, six years as chief and 12 years with the department, resigned Aug. 29, effective Oct. 15, because of unspecified "other interests."

3rd Quint Is Now On Bottle

ABERDEEN, S.D. (AP) — A third Fischer quintuplet went exclusively to bottle feeding yesterday after she pulled her feeding tube off her face. All five quints were reported "acting like normal babies."

Mary Margaret, the last-born, was the latest of the premature babies to end feeding through plastic tubes attached to the quints' noses. James Andrew and Mary Magdalene, placed exclusively on bottle-feeding yesterday, got another increase in feedings today.

Dr. James Berbos, who delivered the babies to Mrs. Andrew Fischer, 30, Sept. 14, said the switch to bottles indicates the quints are growing strong enough to handle the tiring sucking chore.

A spokesman for St. Luke's Hospital said the babies continued to be active, raising their feet and turning in their Isolettes.

Jolly Market Plan Approved

Mill Valley Planning Commissioners Tuesday night approved plans of Herbert Shapiro for restoration of the Jolly Market on Miller Avenue near La Goma Avenue. The supermarket was almost completely destroyed by fire June 28.

Commissioners recommended to city council that a portion of the Highland annexation at the end of Elinor Avenue be rezoned from unclassified to an interim zoning of single family dwellings with 40,000 square feet per lot.

Cuthbert O. Sollom was denied a variance from parking requirements for a commercial building on Camino Alto near East Blithedale Avenue.

Grass Fire Fought In 98 Degrees

Novato firemen fought in 98-degree heat yesterday a grass fire which burned three acres just south of the Marin-Sonoma county line at San Antonio Creek and Highway 101.

Fire Chief George Cavallero said, "If there had been any wind with that heat, the fire would have spread over hundreds of acres. We would have been unable to stop it until it got to the Petaluma River."

Three Novato fire trucks, one State Division of Forestry truck from Straubville, and 31 men contained the fire at the top of a steep hill.

The fire, which started at the entrance to the Corda and Corda Ranch, was discovered by Clyde Holbert who lives across the county line in Sonoma County.

Unification: 'More Binding Than Marriage'

School district unification and marriage are two different things, according to John E. Cahill of Kentfield who has made a close study of unification.

"It's not like a normal marriage where a divorce is fairly simple," Cahill said. He is chairman of the Citizens Committee Against Unification of the Tamalpais District which held its third meeting last night.

From 35 to 40 attended the meeting in Richardson Bay School in Sausalito, Cahill reported. Policy statements were prepared and a question and answer sheet on unification was discussed for distribution prior to the start of public hearings next month.

One of many points on the sheet will be the fact that it takes a petition of 25 per cent of the registered voters to force an election to back out of unification once it has been accomplished.

Included on the policy statement is a paragraph saying:

"This group is not opposed to reasonable school district organization, but rather urges further consideration of more realistic plans for smaller districts to recognize the obvious impact of continuing growth and community identity."

Cahill said the group will probably not meet again until public hearings on the unification plan are over. There will be 11 hearings before members of the Marin County Committee on Unification. They are tentatively scheduled to begin the third week in October and wind up the first week of November.

Miss Tocher was the daughter of James Tocher, manager of the 12th Agricultural District Fair.

Mother Kills Self, 3 Children

CONCORD (AP) — A young mother killed her three children and herself by attaching a vacuum cleaner hose to the exhaust pipe of their car in the garage and leaving the motor running.

Melvin Varnish, 30, an automobile salesman, returned home at 1:15 a.m. today after bowling and found his family wiped out by deadly fumes.

Mrs. Joanne Varnish, 25, was slumped over the steering wheel. Danny D., 20 months old, was lying on the front seat. Mitchell J., 4, and Debra Jo, 5, were in the back seat.

Varnish turned off the motor and neighbors summoned firemen who failed to revive the woman and children. All four were pronounced dead on arrival at Concord Community Hospital.

Sheriff's officers said a letter found in the mail box at the home written by Mrs. Varnish told of her plans to put herself and children "to sleep forever."

The letter was addressed to Mrs. Bernis De Santis, of Dearborn, Mich. The Varnish family came to California about a year ago from Dearborn.

Varnish told officers he felt his marriage had been a happy one and knew of no motive for his wife's action.

FOUR ARE INDICTED FOR TRIP TO CUBA

Grand Jury Names Men On Charges Of Conspiring To Promote Student Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four New York City men were indicted today on charges of conspiring illegally to organize and promote a trip by 59 American students to Cuba last summer, the Justice Department said.

Those named in the indictment, returned by a federal grand jury in Brooklyn, were: Phillip Abbott Luce, 26; Lee Levi Laub and Stefan Martinot, each 24, who were charged with illegally traveling to Cuba and back.

Anatol Schlosser, 26, like the others, also was charged with conspiring to recruit and arrange for the trip.

The grand jury charged that the defendants formed a committee to promote the trip to Cuba, recruited travelers and raised travel funds.

The alleged conspiracy began in October 1962, and continued until Aug. 29, 1963, the day the travelers returned, the indictment said.

The conspiracy charge cited 31 overt acts, including a number of meetings in late June in New York, Paris and Czechoslovakia.

Laub assertedly distributed applications for the student trip in New York City and at San Francisco State College, the grand jury said.

Three of the six counts charged Laub, Luce and Martinot individually with leaving the United States for Cuba via Europe, without valid passports. The other three counts charged them with returning to this country from Cuba on Aug. 29 via Spain, again without necessary passports.

Two other persons who, the Justice Department said, made the trip to Cuba were named as co-conspirators, but were not indicted. They are identified as Salvatore Cucchiari, 19, and Ellen Irene Shallit, 20, both of New York City.

The Justice Department pointed out that the State Department issued regulations Jan. 19, 1961, requiring a specially validated passport for travel to Cuba by Americans. The indictment charged the three who went to Cuba did so without such passports.

Maximum penalty for Schlosser would be five years in prison and $10,000 fine. Maximum for the others would be 15 years and $20,000.

The department said the grand jury investigation into the Cuba student trip is continuing.

Hub Boy, 10, Rides Bike Into Automobile

A 10-year-old San Anselmo boy was injured yesterday when he rode his bicycle into the side of a car turning from San Anselmo Avenue into Center Boulevard at 3:10 p.m., according to police.

Edmund Lee Sisler of 212 Brookside Drive was to be treated by a private doctor for scrapes. Driver of the car was John Patrick O'Connell, 75, of 1301 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo.

Grand Jury Conducts Routine Business

The Marin County Grand Jury discussed "just routine business" at last night's meeting in the courthouse, according to word left by foreman Edwin A. Wells.

Mrs. Wells reported this morning that her husband went to Sierraville, leaving this message: "The district attorney had no indictments to present, and the grand jury conducted just routine business."

Brown Appoints 2 State Execs

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown has appointed two Sacramento men to executive posts in the new Department of General Services.

John H. Stanford, 44, assistant director of the Department of Public Works, was named to one of two deputy director posts in the new department.

John Sheehan, 39, a former newspaper publisher and reporter who later served on Brown's legislative staff, was named departmental planning officer, Brown said.

Both men are Democrats.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

You Can Still See Nave Family Even With Highway Construction

In spite of all highway work going on at Ignacio, the Nave family seems to have made its point: You can still get in and out of Nero's Room and Nave Lanes without any insurmountable difficulty. In fact, it's downright easy. The entrance is the same as before and so is the exit. If you're interested enough you'll find them.

Nero's Room has come a long way in food and service, and it's a North Marin spot that should be on your visiting list. The dining room is as pleasant a place as you can find—architecturally and atmospherically.

If you're not acquainted with the Naves, you may get confused by what seems to be a double-take. The three boys, Rich, Bill and Bob look enough alike to be taken for one man in several places at the same time. But there's only one William Nave Sr., often there to greet guests. Vince Cozzi is maitre d' here.

Best menu choices are steaks, seafoods. Special family dinner under $3 Tuesdays Wednesdays and Thursdays. Children's half portions.

Dancing in the center atrium is a Saturday night attraction, with Pat Kelly, Frank Haggerty and Larry Kohler performing.

NOT EVEN A HERRING. Lisa, Lou Sabella's daughter who celebrated her seventh birthday at the highway restaurant last Saturday night, could have ordered the best on the menu for her 31 small fry guests. And according to Sabella tradition it should have been seafood. But no—she called for hamburgers for everyone.

Grandpa Angelo, by the way, has been spending about three days a week outside the Golden Gate fishing for salmon, and has been bringing in some whoppers. Ergo—broiled salmon steaks. I'd forgotten how good they are.

WE UNDERSTAND that Gregory Seubert (usually known as Mr. Gregory) who formerly managed Sally's Valhalla in Sausalito is planning to open his own restaurant soon in the Paradise Shopping Center, Corte Madera.

BANQUETS in an old Marin landmark dating back to the 1880s—this is an attraction of Black Point Inn. The redecorated upstairs will seat up to 65. Otherwise, downstairs is a good place to take your out-of-town guests in twosomes and foursomes and regale them with what went on there in the old days. If you don't know what did, proprietor Jess Fisher will be glad to oblige you with the details.

Food? Good, of course. Chinese and American fare cooked by Al and Joe Louie.

THERE MAY BE a few bus seats left in the Cellars' winery tour on Sunday to the Korbel vineyards in Sonoma County—I'm not sure at this late date. But if you're interested, call right away. The entire affair, including dinner on your return is $7.50. Bus leaves at 1 p.m.

"Lil' John" Scioli at this San Rafael restaurant, who has the manner continental with the ladies, is now presenting them with a gardenia or tropican rose each Friday, Saturday and Sunday evening.

OPENING THE LID of Pandora's Restaurant, San Anselmo, is now set for a week from tonight—Oct. 4. You'll find many of the former staff of the Fleur de Lys working here under the new owner Jim Pias.

NOLA SHANAHAN, long with West End Villa—back in the days with Pete Ostaggi, and with the Franchinis—is now at McKee's Hofbrau, 721 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael. This is the place that's always crowded at lunchtime.

OLD FASHIONED pan fried chicken and charcoal broiled steaks are favorites at Henry's Ol' Place, San Anselmo.

THE NEW Casa Linda of Phyllis and Carlos Mendoza at 2214 Fourth Street, San Rafael, won't be ready by Oct. 1. Opening will be about three weeks delayed, due to remodeling work not completed.

NO MORE CONFUSION—or is there? It used to be difficult for some to remember that the Colonel's Ranch Wagon was on the highway in Mill Valley, and the Ranch House was a San Anselmo restaurant.

The Colonel's is now closed, so that would seem to settle the matter. But Col. Max Horowitz himself has confused things again. He's moved to the Ranch House, managing for Dick Argento.

First word we had from him was that the Ranch House will have color television for the World Series. But there's only a limited amount of space so you'll have to come early for sitting or standing room.

LAST MINUTE ADD: We've just learned that Monie Mulcahy, organist at Sabella's since it opened 12 years ago is leaving. Tonight and tomorrow night are her last appearances.

She'll take off soon to stay with her daughter and son-in-law at their dude ranch in Wickenberg, Ariz., for a time. No plans after that. We wish her the best.

Musical Town

BATKOVIC, Yugoslavia (AP)—This little Bosnian town is one of the world's most musical communities. More than half of the 300 population play some musical instrument well. Children are given violins or some other music instrument to play with, instead of toys.

EGGZACT WEATHER REPORT

Lois Lynch, 13, fried an egg yesterday on the sidewalk in front of her home at 26 Turnagain Road, Kentfield. She appears to be warmer than the egg in this picture. She had to wait two hours before the egg was done, and by then she had lost her appetite. (Independent-Journal photo by Harold Mathias)

Here's Look At Some Of New Laws

By WAT TAKESHITA

Did you know that it is a crime to sell a BB gun to anyone under 16, or to abandon a kitten or a pup on the roadside in the hope that somebody will adopt it?

Under new laws adopted by the 1963 State Legislature, both are misdemeanors punishable by $500 fine and/or six months in jail. The new laws went into effect last Friday.

Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety, who must keep up with amendments to the various criminal laws of the state, compiled a list of changes made by the Legislature. Here are some of the new laws and their effect:

It is a misdemeanor to sell an air gun or gas-operated gun or firearm to anyone under 16. Those between 16 and 18 need written consent from parent or guardian before firearms can be sold to them.

It is a misdemeanor to wilfully abandon at cat or a dog.

A new type of criminal plea —nolo contendere—has been added. In many cases, defendants want to plead guilty but are reluctant to do so because a guilty plea makes them liable in subsequent civil suits. Nolo contendere has the same effect as a plea of guilty but is not an admission of guilt in collateral civil actions.

The law becomes stricter on illegal possession of liquor by minors. Now it is unlawful for minors to have liquor "in any place open to the public." Formerly it applied only "in public places."

The Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control can now deny a liquor license if the department fears the license will create law enforcement problems.

Employers may no longer demand applicants to submit to a lie test as a condition of employment. This does not apply to federal, state and local government employment.

You may have suspected for a long time that wrestling exhibitions are "fixed." The laws of the state now officially recognize this. The Business and Professions Code defines a "wrestling exhibition" as "a performance in which participants are not required to use their best efforts to win, and the winners may be determined beforehand." However, a "wrestling match" is defined as a "bona fide" contest.

A new law includes abandoned cars and car bodies under the definition of "garbage." This makes it easier for law enforcement agencies to eliminate eyesores.

Attorneys appointed for indigents in juvenile court cases, mentally disordered sex offender cases, and for indigents in municipal court may be compensated (by the county). Up to now, lawyers appointed for indigents in municipal court served free of charge.

The term "sexual psychopath" is abolished. It is replaced by "mentally disordered sex offender."

The total amount of bad checks issued by a defendant must exceed $100 before the crime becomes a felony. Under the old law, $50 or more was a felony.

Penalty for escape is drastically reduced. The old penalty was one year to life in prison. Under the new law, escape without force or violence is punishable by six months to five years in prison; escape by force or violence is punishable by a maximum of 10 years in prison.

Mistreatment of children is now a felony. Under the old law, it was a felony only when traumatic injury resulted.

It is now a misdemeanor for anyone to write a letter to the editor and sign it with someone else's name.

Obscene or threatening telephone calls are now in themselves misdemeanors. Under the former law, such calls could be prosecuted as "disturbing the peace," but not as obscene or threatening calls.

A new law in the Education Code makes it a misdemeanor for anyone over 16 or an adult who is not a pupil to interfere with discipline or orderly conduct at a school with intent to obstruct or inflict damage.

It is a misdemeanor for anyone not a party to a confidential communication to record or evesdrop on such conversation, except when one of the parties to the conversation may appoint an agent to evesdrop. Law enforcement agencies are excluded from this provision.

It is illegal to use a listening device in a public school without the prior consent of the teacher and the principal.

Final reports by grand juries must be submitted by Dec. 31. This, in effect, means that grand juries must wind up their activities by the end of each calendar year.

In drunken driving cases, the judge may order the Department of Motor Vehicles not to suspend the driver's license. In the past, the judge could merely recommend. The new law specifies that drunken driving offenses over seven years old will not be alleged in the complaint. In other words, drunken driving will be a "first offense" if more than seven years have elapsed since the previous conviction.

The county, under the authorization of the board of supervisors and with the advice and consent of the sheriff, may set up provisions for rehabilitation of alcoholics.

Armored Truck Robbed: $250,000

LONDON (AP)—A gang of eight men ambushed an armored truck today and got away with 90,000 pounds ($252,000) in bank notes.

The holdup occurred on a road near Swanley in Kent.

The armored truck was making a routine transfer of cash from one branch of Martin's Bank—one of Britain's biggest financial institutions—to another.

The robbers rammed it with another truck and a car, blackjacked six guards into submission and fled with the loot in another truck. A farmer who saw the raid said it was all over in less than a minute.

Lillian Roth Says No Marriage Plans

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Singer Lillian Roth, divorced from her fifth husband yesterday, says she has no plans to remarry.

"I'm 52 years old and I've had it," she said after her 16-year marriage to publishing heir Thomas B. McGuire Jr. was dissolved.

McGuire, 49, sought the divorce on grounds of physical and mental cruelty and habitual intemperance. She filed a counterclaim and was awarded $2,500 for attorney's fees.

3 Class Representatives Elected At Marin College

Three class representatives to the College of Marin student government were elected Wednesday and yesterday in the largest ballot in recent years for such an election.

Counselor John F. Gillin reported 528 ballots cast from among 1,800 students for nine candidates seeking four positions.

In the race for sophomore women's representative a runoff will be held from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Wednesday between the two top candidates. The apparent lowest of three candidates asked for a recount.

James Duff of San Anselmo was elected freshman men's representative, with 280 votes, over Carl Jensen, Novato, 176; Leslie Davis, San Rafael, freshman women's representative, 256, over Amelia Walker, Hamilton Air Force Base, 175; Theodore Braun, Kentfield, sophomore men's representative, 319, over Leland Guth, Mill Valley, 109.

Votes for sophomore women's representative was: Candace Levian, San Rafael, 188; Wylma Black, San Anselmo, 130, and Nikki Hoff, Santa Venetia, 128.

Miss Hof asked for a recount. Gillin said he would talk with Davis Campbell of Inverness, student president, and seek to arrange the recount Monday by parliamentarian Paul Molinari of San Anselmo and his election committee.

Earlier this week Jensen was reported unopposed for the freshman post, but Gillin said last night that after he reported this, Duff was found to have submitted his petition before the closing deadline.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

A Marin Decision Brings Hope To The Negro

Front-page headlines everywhere last Tuesday proclaimed hopeful news — that the U. S. Senate had at last ratified the nuclear test ban treaty.

Far less spectacular, but in moral respects a full equivalent, was a quiet official action at Marin County's Civic Center. In its own sphere it, like the test ban, carried tremendous hope—to quarters where hope is much needed.

Unanimous acceptance by county supervisors of a detailed plan through which our county government should take a leadership role in improving job opportunities for Negroes and other minority groups was tremendous news. But it was not the sort precisely fitted by headlines big or small. Many of the world's biggest events have been little noted at the time of occurrence because their historic significance had to grow to become visible.

It will now be up to the supervisors to follow through on their solid vote for the plan formulated by Alan Bruce and Bob Elliott on instigation of Supervisor Byron Leydecker. There is every reason to think this will occur, but it will require more than a sudden gust of enthusiasm, even though the $15,000 set aside was an impressively sincere beginning.

Several things must be done in order. A month from now, the county personnel department is to provide details. Positive statements from the supervisors must be formulated, backing a non-discrimination policy in detail rather than formality. Steps must be taken to provide more county jobs and set up programs of training.

Our county, of course, has only a limited number of job openings. But opportunity lies in filling positions at lower levels than hitherto, so that trained Negroes without experience may gain experience in junior work. Likewise, we must provide training in conjunction with the State Employment Service and the College of Marin.

It should be emphasized that the whole tone of the report was sensible and moderate, with no over-compensation in evidence. The past difficulties of minorities seem to some people a justification for "reverse discrimination." The report was specific in opposing this, and so it should be.

Accurately, the report pointed out that "leadership from county government could have a broad effect on the minority employment situation throughout Marin and beyond, like dropping a pebble in a pond." Supervisors suggested that Marin's cities, other counties and certainly private employers may well be inspired to follow such a lead. County training and experience will qualify for jobs in many fields.

Particularly heartening was the warm praise accorded this action and attitude by a number of distinguished Negroes from the small audience last Tuesday. They spoke of such things as the frustration experienced by young Negroes wondering what training to seek, if no jobs are likely; of their own heartbreak because their efforts to help had been set at naught by circumstances they couldn't control. It was most touching to see their gratitude over the start of a program modest but with great promise.

In the seething ocean of news stories about racial violence and torment, Marin County has contributed one shining item of cheer. It was only a start. But it did indeed place Marin in a role of finest leadership.

High Schools Not Bond Beneficiaries

A Terra Linda High School student who wrote to the I-J the other day urging a "yes" vote on school bonds coming before the voters Oct. 8 was a little confused about the bonds being for her school, we're advised.

It turns out that nothing at Terra Linda High is to be built from school bonds which will be voted on Oct. 8.

The bond issue is for San Rafael Elementary School District and has nothing to do with high schools.

Some additional rooms at Terra Linda High—the girls' gym—are to be built from the 50-cent tax increase proposed in the San Rafael High School District at the same election.

China Border Conflicts Disclose Intent To Regain Territory

By PHIL NEWSOM

ONE HUNDRED YEARS and more ago when European powers busily were carving up imperial China, Czarist Russia was taking its share.

Maps published by the Red Chinese since they took over the mainland in 1949 show that they do not recognize these conquests and intend to get them back.

And so to India has been added the Soviet Union as a nation having a border dispute with Communist China, and to the ideological quarrel between the two Communist giants has been added a new and, potentially, even more explosive issue.

For outsiders attempting to assess the depth, probable duration and cause of the quarrel, the latest turn taking up space in Moscow and Peking newspapers and in the propaganda airwaves has given new food for thought.

LAST WEEKEND the Soviet Government charged the Chinese with 5,000 border violations in 1962. The Soviets said the Chinese had attempted to reclaim isolated parts of Soviet territory "without preliminary permission."

Specifically, it cited the case of a fisherman on the Amur River which separates Siberia from Manchuria. It said documents taken from the fisherman demanded that fishermen tell Soviet border guards that river islands belong to China.

It said that Russian attempts to negotiate border disputes had been ignored by Red China, and from this India's Jawaharlal Nehru could draw a wry smile.

Two weeks earlier, the Red Chinese had accused Russia of luring tens of thousands of Mongol nomads across the border of Sinkiang province into the Soviet Union and of trying to engineer an anti-Chinese coup in the region.

BOTH AREAS, Sinkiang and the Amur and Ussuri River borders with Siberia, are historic scenes of conflict between the Russians and the Chinese.

The Soviets have warned the Chinese against trying to bring up old quarrels in a new era.

But as Chinese confidence grows, so apparently do Chinese ambitions. The root of the Soviet-Chinese quarrel may be a challenge for leadership in the Communist world. But the results of the quarrel could go far beyond either Khrushchev or Mao Tse-tung.

'Neo-Beatnik' Tour Plan

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Those "students" who went to Cuba this summer seem to be having a tough time convincing the House Committee on Un-American Activities of the genuineness of their interest in the broadening effects of travel. The suspicious congressmen on the HCUA seem somehow to have gotten it into their minds that these neo-beatniks are nothing more nor less than fellow travelers.

I think the fine, young Americans who participated in the Cuba trip should take steps to dispel this vicious calumny by demonstrating their bona fide interest in travel. To this end, I should like to avail myself of the columns of the I-J (I think at least one of this group is, bless us, from Marin) to pass along some suggestions for future tours:

(1) First off, I suggest a Hungarian Student Exchange Tour. Under this tour our "students" would exchange places with some of the Hungarian students who participated in the 1956 revolt. Now it may well be that this might require some of our young tourists to spend a few months in a Hungarian concentration camp and maybe even undergo some native Magyar tortures, but that seems a small price to pay for the privilege of experiencing life in modern-day Hungary. (And, after all, think what it would mean to the Hungarian students.)

(2) The following year, I recommend the Chinese Agricultural Tour. On this tour, our youths would live off the land in Red China for a summer, feasting on the fabulous Chinese diet. One cautionary remark should be made, however—all participating students should be extremely fond of rice, and should take all available precautions against beri-beri, rickets and typhoid.

(3) For the third and final summer, I strongly recommend the East Berlin Tour. On this tour our young friends would experience first hand the happy life of the East German. The high point of this tour would be when each student was allowed to fire three bursts from a Vopo's submachinegun at saboteurs (of course) trying to escape over the Wall.

When all is said and done, however, I think the vast majority of the populace of America in general and Marin in particular would join in a specific suggestion of a place these types should go and several somewhat Rabelaisian ideas as to what they ought to do when they get there. However, I assume the I-J has some prissy newspaper rules about such matters, so perhaps we had better drop it there.

Road Hazards On Tiburon

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Here is a letter sent to my assemblyman and state senator:

"I wish to protest and request your intervention in the matter of highway safety and the dangerous incompetence of those doing the construction work on Tiburon Boulevard. This morning at 8:30 I and other drivers were almost killed when boulders were pushed over the graded hill between the Mohawk Station at the Alto overpass and the Bel-Aire shopping center.

"Boulders of three feet in diameter hurtled across the boulevard—there was no flagman — forcing motorists to cross the double line and almost causing head-on collisions.

"A scraper type of equipment was operating on top of the hill with no regard for motorists below. Please do something to make the consturctors aware of local residents' rights to life itself before there is a death.

"Incidentally, last September we left for a stay in England. The road was all torn up. We returned in August of this year and found the cars hitting the very same bumps—no progress appears to have been made.

"My neighbors are incensed by the fact that the pattern appears to be that they pave one set of lanes, then pave the other. Then they repeat the process tearing up the new work. We suggest an investigation into excess charges or other possible questions might well be in order."

Bodega Head 'Hot Air'

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Why aren't all these people who are so concerned with the conservation, etc. of Bodega Bay and Head inviting President Kennedy and Secretary Udahl to visit the Head on their conservation swing through the West?

I would certainly think, if they were as interested as they profess to be, these conservationists, etc. would be out there "blowing the whistle to stop his train or flagging his plane down."

Maybe all this talk is just a lot of hot air with no real thought or positive action behind it.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

John Straley tells about the young Wall Street clerk who was summarily discharged, allegedly having stolen $500 in postage stamps. A crusading lawyer, convinced of the young man's innocence, volunteered to take his case and boasted, "We'll sue that former boss of yours for false arrest, mental cruelty, defamation of character, and several other things I'll think of later. My fee will be $500."

"I haven't got that in cash," admitted the young man. "Can I give it to you in postage stamps?"

A pool champion stared so hard at a bald-headed man that the latter grew indignant and demanded, "Have you never seen a bald-headed man before?" "Sure, sure," said the champ. "It's just that I could have sworn I put it in a side-pocket last night."

Nixon Maybe Isn't Running, But Certainly He Is Moving

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard M. Nixon is moving again. He says he is not running. But he's moving.

For a time, after Edmund G. Brown beat the former vice president for the governorship of California last November, it seemed Nixon might devote himself to law and disappear from public life.

But by spring he was making public appearances and statements again.

He has insisted he is not running for anything and "under no circumstances" would he consider a draft for the Republican presidential nomination in 1964. He defined his role as a "leader of opinion" in the party.

PERHAPS for a politician the next best thing to being a candidate himself is having something to say about a lot of things, including somebody else who might be a candidate. Nixon, now 50, has been a politician since he was 33.

"As the last presidential candidate," he said in July, "my role now is to try to guide the thoughts of the Republican party. I will make some speeches and do some writing and I will attend the Republican presidential convention.

"I expect to have something to say on the candidate and the Republican platform. But I do not intend myself to be a candidate for any office in 1964."

HE HAS MADE a number of talks critical of the administration of President Kennedy who beat him for the White House by inches in 1960.

Nixon said Monday he now intends to speak out on a wide array of domestic and foreign policy issues because he thought the Republican position "was not getting through completely."

This news that the Republican position is not getting through completely may be a surprise to two other Republicans, New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater.

Anxious for the Republican presidential nomination, if they think they have a chance, they have been going up and down the countryside making speeches, each expounding his own particular brand of Republicanism.

IF IN THE END they ruin each other's chances for the nomination, it might happen that Nixon would change his mind about not being a candidate or not being drafted, if he gets support.

It wouldn't be the first time he changed his mind.

Republican National Chairman William E. Miller has forecast a key role for Nixon at next July's convention in San Francisco.

This means he will probably have a spot on the program from which to express his views to the delegates when they pick a nominee.

If the convention got deadlocked, and Nixon heard a call for Nixon, would he close his ears?

THE ALLEN-SCOTT REPORT

Kennedy Involved In Highly Complex Cuba Maneuvers

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON— President Kennedy and his foreign policy advisers are becoming deeply involved in some intriguing but conflicting machinations with anti-Castro raiders in the Caribbean.

With full knowledge of the White House and Central Intelligence Agency, a "phantom" air force is being quietly organized on the territory of a strongly anti-Castro government in Central America for sneak raids on Cuba.

Ten B-26s and five B-25s, light World War II bombers, were flown to the "phantom" air force's secret Caribbean airbase after being purchased in the U.S. Surplus World War II bombs and rockets also were obtained here.

Manned by a mixed group of anti-Castro Cuban refugees, Latin Americans and Americans, this small air force has staged one successful raid, an attack on a Cuban chemical plant, since its organization more than two months ago.

THE "PHANTOM" air force is not under U.S. control although the CIA is trying desperately, but so far without success, to regulate and limit its operations.

In direct contrast to this bold venture, U.S. Customs and Immigrations officials on direct orders from President Kennedy are tightening their iron-fisted ban against Americans privately helping anti-Castro raiders throughout the Caribbean.

Already a half-dozen U.S. citizens, including two who undertook daring raids in 1961 for the CIA, were summoned before U.S. Customs officials at night and formally warned that their activities were considered "contrary to the interest of the U.S."

In one instance, D. F. Cardoza, supervising Customs agent of Region II, called in Alexander Rorke, Jr., of New York, who made headlines last April by bombing an oil refinery outside of Havana, and threatened him with fines of $5,000 and two years in jail if he continued helping the anti-Castro raiders.

When Rorke demanded to know who had authorized this warning, he was bluntly told: "It comes directly from the Great White Father in Washington—President Kennedy."

THE CRACKDOWN—In addition to this unusual threat, the White House succeeded in grounding the last of Rorke's two planes—being used as air cargo carriers—by having the State Department cancel his "sojourn" certificate.

But even before this certificate was officially voided, U.S. Customs officials invaded a private Florida airfield and threatened to shoot the tires off Rorke's plane if his pilot, Geoffrey F. Sullivan, tried to take to the air.

At the time, Rorke was readying his plane to carry "lobster tails" and "fresh meat" to the Caribbean to help meet payments due on another plane and a boat, both of which the government had seized earlier and is still holding.

Rorke, the son of Alexander I. Rorke, one-time Assistant District Attorney of New York County who indicted the founders of the American Communist Party in 1917, is nearly bankrupt because of the government's seizures.

According to a high government source, this strong-arm crackdown on Rorke is a symbol of the new White House campaign to assure Premier Khrushchev that the U.S. will not permit anti-Castro refugees to raid Cuba.

FANTASTIC TALE—These baffling developments in U.S. policy come at a time when a reliable Cuban underground source is circulating an almost unbelievable story of a coming Cuban crisis that will again shake the world.

According to this story, which cannot be confirmed by any other source, a controlled uprising in Cuba during the summer of 1964 is being secretly organized by certain officials in Moscow, Havana and Washington.

The plan provides for Soviet troops in Cuba to be used to put down, with little bloodshed, the "staged" uprising, causing President Kennedy to send U.S. troops to the island to fulfill his public pledge that he would never permit a "Hungary" in Cuba.

Marin Commuters Forget Need To Govern Their Home Towns

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS added a neat fillip to the recent disclosure that the Mill Valley City Council has for years been holding "committee" meetings in a San Francisco office.

The AP's "angle," in a story carried nationwide, was that Mill Valley was populated principally by people who moved there to get away from San Francisco, but its commuter city government had in effect moved back across the Bay.

I suspect that to many Mill Valleyans, there appears nothing odd in this.

One Mill Valley resident—who, like the councilmen, has his business in San Francisco—told me he considered it highly unjust to criticize the city council for meeting in San Francisco's Franklin Hospital.

"THESE ARE dedicated men who give a lot of their time to their city," he insisted. "If they want to meet in San Francisco because that is more convenient for them, I think it is perfectly proper for them to do so."

I suggested it might possibly be illegal, but he brushed that off as a technicality.

I suspect he was speaking for many of his Mill Valley neighbors—perhaps even for a majority.

Nor do I think this conception of the role of a municipal government is limited to Mill Valleyans. It is, I suspect, a part of the typical commuter mentality.

THE TYPICAL COMMUTER tends to identify himself primarily with the city of his employment, and only secondarily with the city of his residence.

He is dimly aware that he has no part in the government of "his" business city.

He wants none in the government of his home city—until someone cuts down a tree in front of his house, or starts to erect an apartment building next door, when he becomes in a flash the outraged taxpayer and the most vocal critic of his hometown government.

This attitude probably explains why Marin County turns out over 80 per cent of its registered voters for a national election (in which the cumulative effect of its vote is negligible) and yet only from 25 to 45 per cent for municipal elections (in which it is decisive). School board—and school finance—elections are often decided by an even smaller minority.

IF ONE were to suggest to the average Marin resident that in some places, local elections are considered important, he would likely be greeted by an expression of polite disbelief—if not, indeed, a contemptuous guffaw.

Some years before I settled in the San Francisco Bay Area, I lived and worked in Montana. There, local bond issues require only a simple majority—but if fewer than 60 per cent of the registered electors cast ballots, the election is void.

TO THE BEST of my recollection, if this law prevailed in California, every school bond election in Marin County in the past six years would have been invalid, with one exception.

Perhaps the advocates of Bay Area-wide super-government have something. Perhaps people who will not turn out for the elections they can decide, and who do not even care whether their governing bodies meet openly in the place specified by law, do not deserve home rule.

Phyllis Diller, 'Idiot Broad', Finds It Pays To Be Thus

By HAL BOYLE

PHYLLIS DILLER, who dresses to look like an ostrich on a three-day binge, is perhaps the only woman in America with five children who also wear white, blue and rose-colored contact lenses.

"My goal is to be a gracious woman," she remarked matter-of-factly. "But I decided that if I was to be an idiot broad, I might as well make it pay."

Miss Diller certainly has made it pay. As "the female Bob Hope," master of the one-line quip, she has become a reigning queen of the night club circuit.

"LAST YEAR I paid taxes on $260,000," she said. "This year I hope to make a half million."

Then, she is confident, she will go on to a million, two million, etc., etc.

"But progress is mathematical," she declared during a rest between her frantic nightly chores. "There is no point in being impatient."

A good standup lady comic is a rarity in show business, and Miss Diller is currently the most successful in the field.

"IT SOUNDS like a housewife's dream — to have a roomful of people listening to her," she said. "And it is.

"But most woman wouldn't stick to this line of work. They'd get too hurt emotionally. But to me it's a form of therapy."

Eight years ago Phyllis, then 37, was just another working housewife—she had a radio writing job—who got a big kick out of entertaining other women with her zany antics.

HER HUSBAND, Sherwood, kept urging her to turn professional. She did finally — with considerable qualms.

"I had to give up a $100 a week job, an expense account, and a car to become an unemployed comic," she said.

Billed as "Phyllis Diller, the homely friendmaker," she landed a $60 a week job in a San Francisco club with an outlandish act in which she set about stuffing a turkey—through the beak.

"It took me years to work up to $110 a week," she said.

Rigorously self-disciplined, she makes up most of her own material.

Miss Diller, now 45, doesn't worry about an improvident old age. She has a land investment program.

"I have a piece of land in Idaho 40 miles long and one inch wide," she said. "I use it now to store string."

Safe Round Of Trumps In Game Loses Slam Contract

There is such a thing as playing a hand so safe that you go down. One good way of doing this is to draw a premature round of trumps.

West led the king of hearts, and declarer quite properly ruffed in dummy. Then, "for safety's sake," declarer led dummy's seve nof clubs to his own king.

UNCOMFORTABLE

West discarded a heart, and South suddenly found the room uncomfortably warm. It's strange how the perspiration comes out when you've just tossed away a vulnerable slam.

South ruffed a heart with dummy's 10 of clubs and led the king of diamonds from dummy, discarding the queen of hearts from his hand.

West took the ace of diamonds and considered a shift to spades. Just in time, however, West remembered that East had played the seven of hearts at the first trick and the three of hearts on the next round of the suit.

TRUSTS PARTNER

Trusting his partner, West led the ace of hearts, forcing declarer to ruff in dummy with the ace of trumps. Now East was sure to win the setting trick with the jack of clubs.

South should make the slam by leading the king of diamonds from dummy at the second trick.

Declarer discards a low heart, and West wins with the ace of diamonds.

LOW HEART

If West returns a low heart, South can discard a spade from dummy and win in his own hand with the queen. The rest is easy.

West can make things difficult only by returning the ace of hearts. South ruffs in dummy and draws two rounds of trumps with the king and ace.

He can then discard two spades on the queen and jack of diamonds to make sure of the slam.

Connolly Goes Out On The Limb And Picks Dodgers In Five Games

(Last of a three-part series previewing the World Series between the Los Angeles Dodgers and New York Yankees scheduled to start next Wednesday.)

CONNOLLY

When it comes to picking a winner, whether it be baseball, football or fighting, I'm always conscious of one experience in my life.

It happened at the Joe Louis-Jim Braddock fight in Chicago when Louis won the championship.

The week before the big scrap, Jack Dempsey came down from New York and we were all huddled in the Morrison Hotel. Every fight writer in the country was there and Dempsey insisted on starting a pool with the writers.

I won Joe Louis and round six and Sid Ziff, now a columnist on the L.A. Times, out of the hat picked Jimmy Braddock in the first round. We swapped picks. I wanted to stay with the Irishman.

Ziff won the pool and the dough and my Irish loyalty and I got the goose egg.

So when I decide today that I must choose a winner of the coming Dodger-Yankee clash, I wonder.

My heart is definitely with the Dodgers. I think they could win it in four games.

If the series goes seven games, Sandy Koufax will get three shots at the Yankees and he is too good a pitcher to compare against Whitey Ford, who has pitched to weak-kneed hitters in the American League all season.

THE DODGERS, in my book, are a smarter, better running ball club than the Yankees. And with good pitching they don't have to hit home runs crazy like the S.F. Giants. They score 'em one at a time.

Tommy Davis will outhit all the Yankees with the exception of Mickey Mantle, who may or may not be able to play the full seven games. Frank Howard, if he plays, will outhit anybody below Mantle on the Yankees and Willie Davis should be a star in the series. After a slow start, he really is just starting to hit his stride.

JIM GILLIAM, the Dodger's second sacker, could be picked as the most valuable player in the National League. Regardless of how lucky Bobby Richardson, the Yankee second baseman has been, I'd have to rate Gilliam on top.

Tony Kubek has the nod over Maury Wills as a defensive shortstop but not as a complete ball player. I think Wills has more savvy and more speed and daring and is a better hitter than Kubek. And I hope my fran Joe DeMaestri will forgive me these few words.

Cletus Boyer has to have the nod over anybody the Dodgers play at third base, as a defensive player. But not as an offensive player if Tommy Davis is elected the Dodgers' third sacker.

New York's Joe Pepitone might be a great first baseman, but he has yet to really establish himself as another Lou Gehrig or Jimmy Foxx. I still think he and L.A.'s Ron Fairly are a tossup at the moment.

SO TO summarize one man's opinion of the coming World Series, I'd have to say the Dodgers could win it easily although they could lose it the same way.

But Koufax, Don Drysdale and Johnny Podres with Perranoski in relief have all the plusses and not many minus marks against the entire Yankee pitching corps.

So I'll stick with the Dodgers to win the world championship in, let's say, five games.

Night Or Day Football Question Arises

By RALPH CHATOIAN

The question of day football games vs. night football games in Marin high schools has reached out after yesterday's rescheduling of a Tamalpais High School football game.

Tam was scheduled to play the gridders from Pleasant Hill tomorrow night in College of Marin Stadium, but because of racial uprisings at and near the Mill Valley campus, the game was hastily switched to Pleasant Hill in Contra Costa County.

Tam Principal Robert H. Prather said today he and athletic director George Gustafson were trying to switch next week's opening Marin Athletic League game with Redwood to a day game. It is now scheduled for next Friday at 8 p.m. in College of Marin Stadium.

Five of the six league games for the Tamalpais Indians are scheduled for night. Prather said he doubted the other night encounters would be switched to daytime affairs. He said the decision on next Friday's game with Redwood High would probably be made today.

Prather said he felt the general feeling of the board of managers of the Marin Athletic League—made up of principals of the seven participating Marin high schools—was that day games were better than night games.

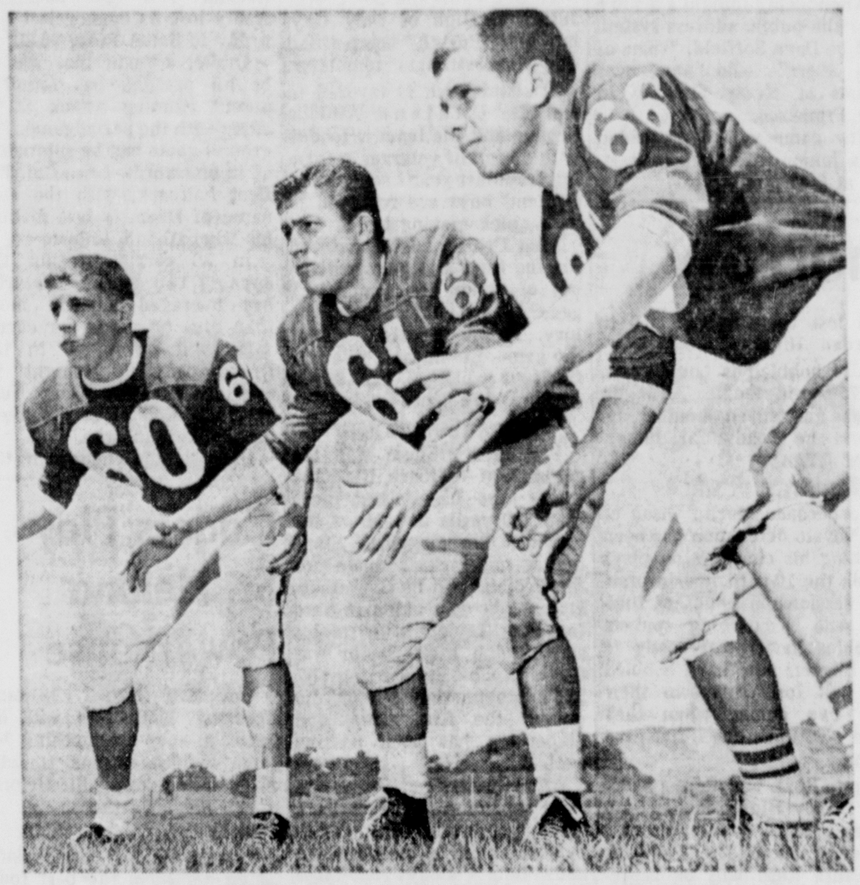
Donald Kreps, principal of Redwood High School and president of the board of managers, said that it would be up to the school districts to change the time of games. He said the league "sets up the day each of the teams are to play each other, the home school sets up the time."

He added, "The league has no authority to switch all the league games to day."

Four school districts are within the league. Tam, Redwood and Drake are in the Tamalpais Union High School District; Terra Linda and San Rafael are in the San Rafael School District; Novato is in the Novato School District, and Marin Catholic has its separate board.

Four of the schools in the MCAL—Tam, Drake, Redwood and Marin Catholic—play their home games in College of Marin Stadium because their school fields do not have adeuaqte seating facilities nor lights for home games.

Kreps said Redwood was in favor of day games. Four of Redwood's games were scheduled for daylight. Novato and Terra Linda schedule all their home games for the day.



REDWOOD STALWARTS AWAIT UKIAH

These star linebackers for the Redwood High Giants will see plenty of action tonight at Kentfield where the Giants will tackle Ukiah High starting at 8 o'clock. Described by Coach Bob Troppmann as "the key to our defense," the linebackers from left are Joel Wallace, Dennis Schunk and Steve Minutoli. Story on page 14. (Independent-Journal photo)

MARIN ATHLETICS

Kreps Heads League Board Of Managers

Donald Kreps, principal of Redwood High School, has been elected president of the Marin Athletic League Board of Managers for this year.

Kreps was acting president during the latter part of the last school year, following the resignation of Robert McKeay as principal of Novato High School.

Elected vice president of the board was Alfred Thomson, principal of San Rafael High School. Both Kreps and Thomson will also be the MCAL representatives to the North Coast Section.

George Corson, director of athletics at Drake High, was named league commissioner for the second year and Drake Principal Harold Allison was reappointed as representative of the MCAL to the Tournament of Champions basketball classic in Berkeley.

The board announced that there will be twice the number of schools this year in the Marin Athletic League cross country competition than there was last year. Six of the seven MCAL schools will compete, Drake being the only non-participant.

Practice meets will be three-way affairs, with the official league meet scheduled at Mill Valley golf course, Tamalpais the host school, on Nov. 14.

Important News About Imported Scotch

How a sea voyage in its original casks from our Distillery in Scotland creates a Whisky with the unique combination of elegant taste and thrifty price

The art of "gentle-ing" came into being centuries ago when wealthy wine merchants used to send their wines on long ocean voyages in their original casks in order to bring them to their point of perfection. And now the same holds true for House of Stuart Scotch Whisky.

House of Stuart is a blend of 30 of the finest Scotch distillations. It is carefully blended and aged in our distillery in Bowling-By-Glasgow, Scotland. Then—like the wine merchants of old—we send our fine Scotch out to sea in its original casks to be "gentled," and imported to America. As a result of this sea voyage, not only is the taste of House of Stuart improved, but the cost is also considerably less.

You see, since it is shipped in its original casks, House of Stuart does not have to pay the taxes and duties paid by other Scotches that are bottled overseas. This means you pay almost $2.00 less per fifth than many other popular brands. Visit your liquor mart or store and ask for House of Stuart. It's elegant in taste, and thrifty in price because it's shipped in its original casks.

Mays, Cepeda Lose Ground In Battle For N.L. Bat Crown

The magic number is down to two for the San Francisco Giants—as far as the race for third place in the National League is concerned.

The Giants take on Pittsburgh tonight in the opener of the final series of their disappointing season. A victory will cinch a third-place tie for the unsuccessfully defending champions and a victory coupled with losses by Philadelphia and Cincinnati, now tied for fourth, will completely sew up the show position for the Giants.

Manager Alvin Dark nominated Bob Bolin (10-5) to face Pittsburg's Bob Veale (4-2).

The Giants kept Philadelphia from claiming a share of third place by stomping the Phils 10-0 yesterday behind the three-hit pitching of Billy O'Dell before only 3,691 fans at Candlestick Park.

But despite an outburst of 13 Giants hits, batting title contenders Orlando Cepeda and Willie Mays each saw his average slip.

Cepeda went 1-for-5, falling to .318, and Mays went 0-for-5, falling to .314. Leader in the seven-way fight is Tommy Davis of Los Angeles at .323.

Willie McCovey, however, regained the league home run lead when he clouted his 44th in the third inning with O'Dell and Harvey Kuenn aboard.

The Giants chased Dallas Green with six runs in the first inning and added four in the third on McCovey's round-tripper and a solo home run by Ed Bailey.

O'Dell yielded singles in the third and fifth and a double in the seventh in notching his 14th victory against 10 defeats.

The six-run first opened with singles by Kuenn and McCovey and Cepeda's double. Mays was safe on an error, Bailey walked, Chuck Hiller singled, O'Dell singled, Kuenn walked and McCovey was safe on another bobble. Cepeda left the bases full when he bounced out.

The season closes with single games against the Pirates tomorrow and Sunday.

Like Ol' Times: Conner, Perry In 49er Lineup

A pair of great names from the days when the San Francisco 49ers won football games were back on the roster today.

End-flanker Clyde Conner and fullback Joe Perry, pro football's all-time top ground gainer, were placed back on the squad yesterday and will be ready to go Sunday at Minneapolis against the Minnesota Vikings.

Perry, who twice gained over 1,000 yards for the Prospectors, was picked up two weeks ago after being cut loose by the Baltimore Colts. He was signed to the taxi squad and has not as yet played in a regular game this season.

Conner was ranked as San Francisco's third best receiver a year ago although he was hampered by injuries throughout the season. This time he is coming off the injured reserve list. His return is expected to free flanker back Jim Johnson for duty in the defensive backfield.

In other moves yesterday, rookie linebacker Floyd Dean was placed on the injured waiver list leaving the Prospectors still two players under the legal player limit of 37.

Linebacker Bill Cooper immediately gave up his number 34 to Perry, who had it in his previous decade with the team. Cooper settled for number 35 instead.

Coach Red Hickey named a revamped defensive lineup with Cooper at middle linebacker in place of injured Mike Dowdle, Johnson at right safety, Elbert Kimbrough at left safety and Kermit Alexander at left wing.

San Francisco has dropped five straight exhibitions and two regulation games this year without a victory.

Marin Catholic Cage Team Whips Novatans

Paul Vickers scored 13 points and Jim Ingrassia contributed 11 yesterday as the Marin Catholic High Wildkittens drubbed Novato, 53-26 in the opening of the Marin Athletic League's Class C basketball schedule at Novato.

TONIGHT AT KENTFIELD

Redwood Hosts Ukiah

Redwood High School footballers will be in rough company tonight when they take on Ukiah High in a practice game in the College of Marin Stadium at 8 o'clock.

Ukiah last week knocked off Novato High School 13-0 while Redwood was easily taking care of Montgomery High School, 27-6.

Redwood and Novato are rated as two of the strongest teams in the Marin Athletic League this year and the game may provide a comparison between the two clubs, although comparative scores usually are not worth their weight in salt.

Redwood head coach Bob Troppmann and assistant coach Al Endriss have tried to install "sharpness and team development" this week at practice and the coaches are pleased with what they see. They are also pleased to report no injuries in the Giant camp.

Co-captains for tonight's game for Redwood will be guard-linebackers Dennis Schunk and Steve Minutoli. The pair, plus Joel Wallace, the other linebacker for the Giants, received a lot of praise from Troppmann for their defensive play against Montgomery. "They are the key to our defense," he said.

Troppmann was pleased with the entire team after its game last Saturday.

Cited by Troppmann was the passing of Tom Gootherts who completed four of seven passes for 39 yards and his quarterbacking understudy Ed Hutchison who completed one for two, a four-yarder.

Big receiver for Redwood was a tackle, Jim Carroll. He was used on four tackle-eligible pass plays, all working for a total of 44 yards.

Also praised by Troppmann was the running ability of fullback Paul Ackerman who picked up 57 yards in 10 carries and Dave Auerbach who rambled for 39 yards in 10 carries.

Redwood's coaching staff scouted the Novato-Ukiah clash and know that Ukiah has a good passing team that clicks on short passes.

Announcing tonight's game over the public address system will be Dave Soffield, "voice of the 49ers" who announces games at Kezar Stadium in San Francisco.

The game will be preceded by a junior varsity clash starting at 5:45 p.m.

Novato Seeks First Victory Tomorrow

Novato High School Hornets, a team that has failed to dent the scoreboard in its first two practice games, will try for its first victory of the campaign tomorrow afternoon when the gridders take on Santa Rosa High School on the Hornets' field, 2 o'clock.

The varsity contest will be preceded by a junior varsity clash between the two schools at 11:45 a.m.

Two of Novato's top backs, John Miller and Rich Rotchy, will be out of the game because of injuries. Miller has a bruised rib and Rotchy has a wrenched back suffered in the Ukiah game last Friday. The Hornets lost that game 13-0, and lost their opener, 6-0 to Riordan High..

Also hobbled is Louis Pratt, a 175-pound tackle. Although he has an injured shoulder, he should be ready for tomorrow's action.

COSTLY FUMBLES

Head coach Marlin Olsen of the Novato delegation has been working his chargers on plays inside the 10-yard line in practice sessions in hopes of finding the scoring punch. Fumbles have been costly to the Hornets who have bobbled the ball four times in their first two games when they were within the five-yard stripe.

Santa Rosa, winner last week over Analy High School 25-20, is reported to have a big and powerful team. The Panthers of Santa Rosa will be representing the North Bay League.

Many Places Where Unattached Nimrods Can Get Prime Hunting

STEVENS

So you aren't lucky enough, or well heeled enough to belong to a private duck club, and you're wise to the fact that of the approximately 500,000 acres of good duck hangout about 90 per cent or more is denied you? So you're thinking of selling your duck straps, guns and trappings and join a pinochcle club? Don't! There is still a lot of places where the unattached nimrod can get in some prime hunting.

Take, for example, the Tule Lake region. The huge refuges in the Klamath Basin, where millions of ducks and geese congregate, is wide open to you and your pals. Also you can get in two weeks of shooting before the elite fire a shot. On Tuesday, Oct. 8, at high noon, the thousands of acres in the Klamath Basin become legally shootable. The limit is four per day and eight in possession, a bit under the general bag and possession limit which is six and six, but still more generous than in some other flyways.

Or, if the Tule Lake region is too far away for you, what about the 5,000 acres of good duck land in the Napa Salt Marshes? No limit on the number of shooters, and you can get a permit to shoot throughout the 75-day season for only $3. Sure, you must have water transportation to get to the better locales, but you can rent a boat or bring your own.

And then there are flocks of other places where the unattached hunter can get in his licks.

FOR YEARS I did over half my duck-downing from a blind in the upper San Pablo Bay. Got in some fast and fancy shooting of bluies and cans along with a few sprig, goldeneye and buffleheads. I have had some grand sport shooting on the lee side of the Rockwall across from Rodeo. There will be many ducks taken from that San Pablo region. You can rent a skiff at boateries on both sides of the bay, doll up the craft with some tules and have your own individual blind.

THERE IS frequently some fine duck hunting in the lower, middle and upper Suisun Bay, the Grizzly Bay, and some of the small islands in the Pittsburg-Antioch region. Bring your own boat or hire one and launch at practically any harbor or landing, and have fun.

I have been told by several unattached hunters that they have even done business from the banks of many of the sloughs in the Delta Region. Usually those fellows had along a good dog for the retrieving job.

THAT'S NOT the whole story. We have the waterfowl management areas handled by the Department of Fish and Game. Honey Lake, Grizzly Island, San Luis Wasteway, Los Banos, Mendota areas where some 1,500 unattached hunters can shoot. These management areas are limited to a certain number of hunters per shooting days (you must make written application for reservations well in advance of the day you would shoot which will be on Wednesday, Saturdays and Sundays, only) and not all areas open on Oct. 23. I have mentioned the Oct. 8 opening of the Tule Lake Refuge. The Merced refuge will open on Nov. 6, and Colusa and Sutter refuges on Nov. 9. For the specifics of all management areas inquire from your license agent, or any office of the DFG.

STRIPER STRIVING locally? China Camp reported excellent results trolling the Sisters area—best on incoming tide, 2 to 4 p.m. Lots of red rock cod on bait in same area. A rumor of bait fishing success in upper San Pablo—proved to be only a rumor. One fellow caught his limit trolling the Flats off Hercules — S'all. Sorry!

Mrs. William May of Woodacre is again the champion at Indian Valley Golf Club for the sixth straight year!

Mrs. May won the 1963 title when she easily defeated Mrs. Roger Williams of Santa Venetia 9 and 8 in the finals of the club championships Tuesday.

Mrs. Torc Bedayan of Mill Valley won over Mrs. Rowe Waller of Greenbrae, 2 and 1, for the title of the first flight. Mrs. C. B. Coleman of Novato was the winner of the defeated champion flight and Mrs. Charles Zapelli of San Rafael was the champ of the defeated first flight.

Mrs. Phillip Shafer of Mill Valley shot an 89-24—65 to win the consolation flight.

Terra Linda Vs. Tough Oakland '11'

Head coach Pete Limm and his Terra Linda Trojan gridders will take their two-game win streak into the arena tomorrow afternoon when they tangle with Oakland Tech at 2 p.m. on the Trojans' field.

Terra Linda won its first two practice encounters, 14-7 over Del Valle and 26-12 over Jefferson High of Daly City, but will find the competition somewhat stronger tomorrow.

Oakland Tech is favored to win the Oakland Athletic League and the team is loaded with a crop of veterans returning from last year's squad. The Oakland boys are reported to be a quick moving team.

Rich Crozier, defensive end for the blue and gold, will be out of action for tomorrow's game because of an elbow injury, Limm reported. About the game, Limm said, "We will find out what we can do. It will be a big game for us."

EDWARDS PRAISED

Praised by Limm was the running of halfback Rick Edwards who has gained more than 120 yards in each of the previous Trojan games. Starting at quarterback again for the Trojans will be Gary Lieberman who is making it hard for Bob Taylor to earn his starting job back. Taylor was figured to be the starting QB, but a broken thumb kept him out of the first game, and Lieberman has been passing well.

Also singled out by Limm were sophomore fullback Pete Marcovich, guard Stan Paretto, center Mike Gordon and ends Bob Cooney and Mike Angeli.

Tomorrow's varsity action will be preceded by a junior varsity clash at 11:30 a.m.

High-Flying Drake Takes On Analy '11'

The high-flying Drake Pirates will be seeking their third straight victory tonight in Sabastopol when they challenge Analy High School's gridders at 8 o'clock.

Drake downed Armijo 25-14 in its opening game of the season and then steam-rolled over Oceana 41-0 last Saturday. Analy lost its opener last Saturday to Santa Rosa, 25-20.

Drake, a team that was to be all passing, has found a potent running attack to go along with the aerial game. The ground game can be summarized in one word—Lazzarini. The fleet halfback, with the first name of Dean, is fast making his whereabouts known.

In 30 carries during the opening two games, Lazzarini has averaged slightly more than nine (9) yards per carry!

He will be joined in the Drake backfield tonight by quarterback Mike Kemp, fullback Joe DeMasi and flankerback Mike Crabtree.

Only lineup change in the Drake roster made necessary because of an injury is at the tight left end. Stan Carter will replace Rick Paulson who is sidelined with an injured shoulder.

Drake head coach Bob Franceschini praised the receiving ability of Larry Stein, the split end in Drake's wide open Spread-T formation.

Analy works from the same formation as the Pirates, with split end and flanker and does quite a bit of passing. According to Franceschini, Analy's defensive line averages 240 pounds, so Drake won't be expecting to make much up the middle.

But with Kemp throwing the passes and Lazzarini running the ends, Drake should do all right.

Cadets Play St. Helena Powerhouse

The San Rafael Military Academy footballers will be trying to snap an opposing 34-game winning streak tonight when they take on St. Helena High School, there, at 8 o'clock.

The St. Helena team hasn't tasted defeat in the past four years. The Cadets of San Rafael opened their season last Friday with a 19-13 loss to Selesian High School.

Tonight's game will be the last practice tilt for S.R. which will open its Bay Counties League slate Oct. 5 against St. Vincent's High School.

Marin Tars, Chico JV Clash Tonight

College of Marin Tars will be looking for their first taste of victory of the season tonight when the 53-man aggregation meets the Chico State College junior varsity at Chico.

Head Coach Dick Read sent his Mariners through a week of heavy body contact and review of fundamentals in preparation for the "tough, aggressive and well coached" Chico squad, to use his words.

Excessive penalties and unrecovered fumbles show part of the picture in Marin's 19-16 opening game loss to Menlo College. The Tars were penalized 11 times for 125 yards, a couple of the infractions coming when Marin was inside the Menlo 10-yard line. By contrast Menlo lost 46 yards through penalty. The Readmen fumbled three times, recovered only once while Menlo was able to save both of its miscues.

SAN RAFAEL GAME TOMORROW NIGHT

San Rafael High School's football game against Montgomery High in Santa Rosa, originally scheduled for tonight, has been rescheduled for tomorrow, 8 p.m., at Bailey Field, Santa Rosa, it was announced yesterday afternoon. Montgomery requested the postponement due to a conflict in schedules at Santa Rosa.

The varsity tilt will be preceded by a junior varsity game between the schools starting at 5:45 p.m.

Valiant's standard 101-hp engine is where the word "hummer" comes from. Take quality. Valiant's 5-year/50,000-mile engine and drive train warranty* speaks for itself. Take a test drive. Soon.

Oregon Slim Pick Over Stanford '11'

Slightly-favored Oregon tries to bounce back from an upset loss to Penn State when it meets Stanford tomorrow in an expected battle of running attacks at Stanford Mel Renfro and his Oregon mates need a victory to justify their high pre-season ranking. Stanford, under new coach John Ralston, is undergoing its first difficult test following a 29-13 opening victory over San Jose State.

About 35,000 fans are expected as Oregon goes for its seventh consecutive victory over the Indians.

The Ducks bowed 17-7 to Penn State in their opener as their attack bogged down because of missed assignments by the inexperienced offensive line.

Renfro, a second-team All America in 1962, gained 44 yards in 11 carries last week and depended almost solely on his own shiftiness to get them because of line problems. The Ducks are especially inexperienced at tackle, where Ron Snidow and Steve Barnett played all last year.

DEFENSIVE PROBLEM

Coach Len Casanova did not unveil all aspects of his split-T formation — featuring a split end and flanker back—so Ralston may have defensive problems.

Stanford, air-happy under Chuck Taylor and Jack Curtice the past 12 years, ran most of the time against San Jose. But a varied passing attack is a threat with three 1962 quarterbacks in the starting backfield.

Dick Ragsdale, converted to a halfback, scored all four touchdowns against San Jose, two on passes and two on long runs. Steve Thurlow has been converted to the other halfback spot and Clark Weaver is at quarterback.

Renfro has been Stanford's major headache the past two years. He came off the injured list to score two touchdowns and throw for a third as a sophomore and added three more touchdowns this year.

Coast Tennis Play Running True To Form

BERKELEY (UPI) — Today's quarter-final play in the 74th annual Pacific Coast International Tennis Championships found all eight seeded men still around.

Top-ranked Rafael Osuna, who has not lost a set, defeated Clint Arbuckle of Castro Valley, 6-3, 6-3, yesterday.

Other winners included Ron Barnes of Brazil, Antonia Palafox of Mexico, Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., Whitney Reed of Alameda, Jim McManus of Berkeley, Tom Edlefsen of Oakland and Roger Werksman of Los Angeles.

Play was not quite so formful in the women's singles where two English girls, sixth-seeded Elizabeth Starkie and seventh-seeded Rita Bentley, were upset.

Andria Miller of San Carlos downed Miss Starkie, 6-1, 6-0, and Franceson Gordigiani of Italy whipped Miss Bentley, 6-3, 6-4.

Sportswriters Pick Yanks, 2-1

NEW YORK (AP)—Sportswriters who will be covering the World Series favor the New York Yankees by a 2-1 margin over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Of 85 responding to a poll by The Associated Press, 59 made the American League champion Yankees their choice. The National League champion Dodgers were the choice of 26.

Heavyweights Battle In TV Bout Tonight

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Heavyweights Mike DeJohn and George Chuvalo meet in a 10-round television fight tonight and Cassius Clay is waiting to take on the winner.

The bout will be telecast nationally by ABC-TV (channel 7), starting at 10 p.m., PDT.

DeJohn, 31, a former member of the top 10 among heavyweights from Miami Beach, Fla., has a record of 46 victories, 11 losses and one draw.

Chuvalo, former Canadian heavyweight champion, has a 24-7-1 record. He is 26.

Clay, No. 1 heavyweight contender, plans to sign for a fight against the DeJohn-Chuvalo winner at Convention Center either Nov. 5 or 8.

USC, Oklahoma In National TV Clash; No. 1 Trojans May Get Toughest Test

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Southern California, unimpressive in its opener but still ranked No. 1 football team in the nation, goes against No. 3-ranked Oklahoma tomorrow in what could be its toughest test of 1963.

Their nationally-televised clash at Los Angeles is the nation's feature game of the weekend and, of course, the highlight of West Coast activity.

Washington and Oregon, two supposed powerhouses who lost openers, visit Pittsbugrh and Stanford respectively in bids to regain prominence.

California, UCLA and Washington State go east to take on Illinois, Penn State and Iowa. Kansas State is at San Jose State, Colorado at Oregon State and Pacific at West Texas State.

Southern Cal, the national champion last year, has its four Busy Bees of 1962 back but could manage only a 14-0 victory over weak Colorado.

Quarterback Pete Beathard completed only 6 of 19 passes on the muddy field, a far cry from his normal touchdown throwing to gigantic end Hal Bedsole. Troy's other Bee stars are flashy runner Willie Brown and All-America guard Damon Bame.

Oklahoma, nearing the peak of a long march back to gridiron heights after several lean years, whipped Clemson 31-14 but trailed at halftime and in most statistics.

Mike Ringer is the first sophomore ever to start at quatrerback for long-time Oklahoma coach Bud Wilkinson. But it was Oklahoma's third unit which rallied the Sooners from a 14-7 deficit to a 24-14 lead in the third quarter.

Washington, 10-7 loser to Air Force last week, runs into a powerful Pitt team that demolished UCLA 20-0 in its opener. Only a 91-yard kickoff return by 150-pound halfback Steve Bramwell put the Huskies in the scoring column.

Pitt, more a running team than aerial-minded Air Force, will run into one of Washington's major strengths—rushing defense.

Oregon was surprised 17-7 by Penn State last week and was hurt by numerous mistakes in the inexperienced offensive line. But the Ducks' Mel Renfro, second team All America halfback in 1962, has scored five touchdowns against Stanford the past two years.

Of the other western schools, only Oregon State and San Jose figure to win. Colorado is still rebuilding after its recruiting scandal and Kansas State has won only four of its last 31 games.

Little League Meet

The annual meeting of the San Rafael American Little League will be held in the council chambers of the San Rafael City Hall Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. A report on the 1963 league activities will be presented to parents who attend.

Slip reduces engine friction 22%!

(okay, what does that mean?)

- It means that a 1962 Falcon got 8% more horsepower with Slip in the engine.
- It means that a 1956 Mercedes-Benz got 2 additional miles per gallon with Slip in the engine.
- It means that a 1962 Plymouth that did the standing quarter mile in 20 seconds did it in 17 seconds with Slip in the engine.
- It means that a 1961 Oldsmobile showed a 61% reduction in bearing wear with Slip in the engine.
- It means these cars, your new car, your old car, any car will run better, faster, give you better economy and last longer with Slip in the engine.

If you have to know more before you buy Slip, read these excerpts from our booklet "The Fight Against Friction."

What is friction?

No surface is ever perfectly smooth. Not even glass.

Even highly polished metals have microscopic peaks and valleys on their surfaces. Rub them together. The peaks crash against each other. A resistance to movement occurs. This is friction.

Under a microscope, even a highly polished surface looks like this. Oil and conventional solid lubricants are squeezed into the valleys under heat and pressure, leaving the jagged peaks bare and unprotected.

Even something as slippery as oil has friction built into it. The atoms in a molecule of oil attract each other like small, weak magnets. They resist movement and some friction occurs.

As great as they are, modern cars and motor oils still have a long way to go to overcome friction. Otherwise cars would run indefinitely on a drop of gasoline.

"Solid" lubricants

Certain metal ores can be ground into slippery powders. Lead is one. Graphite another.

They resist heat and pressure better than oil. But they still only fill in the valleys on metal surfaces. The peaks are bare

But one solid lubricant is unique. Molybdenum disulfide (MoS_2).

Slip contains a high concentration of MoS_2.

There is nothing like MoS_2

MoS_2 is slippery. One of the slipperiest lubricants known to man. The greater the pressure, the more slippery it becomes (just the opposite of motor oil and all other lubricants). Under heavy loads its coefficient of friction is as low as .017, as slippery as two melting cakes of ice sliding over one another.

When you combine the unique Slip formula with MoS_2, what happens? You have a super-slippery lubricant. A lubricant that does not replace motor oil, but a lubricant that does make oil more slippery. Up to five times as slippery as the oil by itself. How does Slip do it? By plating itself to the cylinder walls and all moving parts. Slip will not wash off, burn off or drain off. It lasts through oil changes, up to 6,000 miles. It reduces friction. Dramatically. In freezing sub-zero starts. In blistering desert heat.

Submicron particles

A micron is about as small as you can get. A millionth of a meter. 35/1,000,000ths of an inch.

The particles of MoS_2 in Slip are even smaller. Submicron. 200 of them in a line would be no wider than a human hair. One particle doesn't differ greatly from another in size or shape.

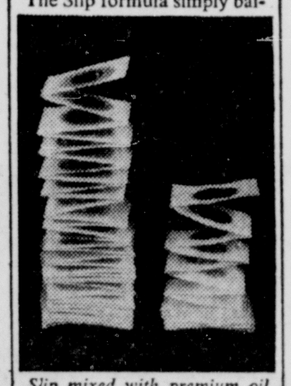
The Slip submicron particle size has two advantages. It goes through the finest oil filters. It also contributes to a perfect suspension. The smaller the particles, the easier it is to surround each of them with a protective shield. When this is done, the particles will not sink out or collect in bunches. This is called a colloidal suspension (like homogenized milk). Slip is a colloidal suspension of MoS_2.

There is more to Slip than MoS_2

You cannot just dump a load of MoS_2 in oil and have it work. It must be refined, purified, ground into submicron particles, perfectly suspended and made compatible. No small task. But the job is still not finished.

A high quality base oil must be used as a carrier. Slip has one of the finest, with 10-30 multigrade characteristics. Even then all of the MoS_2 would not go to work without something else in Slip. An exclusive blend of ingredients that activates the MoS_2.

Detergents. Dispersants. Anti-rust agents. Anti-wear agents. Anti-oxidants. Anti-corrosives. Viscosity-index improvers and pour point improvers. A good motor oil has all these to start with. The Slip formula simply balances them and activates the MoS_2.



Slip mixed with premium oil passed through 35 layers of #101 Whitman filter paper. Another MoS_2 solution only passed through six layers. Both were mixed in the proportion recommended for use by the manufacturers.

Once you use Slip, you'll make it a regular part of your car service program. Once every 6,000 miles.

Success in England

Slip was unveiled first in England. In two short years it became a standard item in garages and service stations. It's preferred 8 to 1 over any other oil supplement or any brand of additive. It works.

Tests with 5 different European cars at Loughborough College showed that Slip improved horsepower 4 to 14% and gas mileage 10 to 25%.

Camden, N. J.

Slip was road-tested in twelve privately owned automobiles, from two to eight years old, for compression and idling speed. After 1000 miles with Slip in the crankcase, the cars averaged 6.48% greater compression, 5.22% faster idling.

San Antonio, Texas

Slip was tested in a 1960 Oldsmobile V-8 for any adverse effects or wear in comparison with a high quality reference oil without Slip.

There were no adverse effects. Incidental information recorded indicated 61% less bearing wear, 20% less oil consumption with Slip. Dynamometer tests on a 1956 Oldsmobile Super 88 showed a 4.15% decrease in fuel consumption at 2000 r.p.m., a 6.20% decrease at 3000 r.p.m.

Bridgehampton, L. I., N. Y.

Six 1962 rental cars, new but broken in, were subjected to dynamometer tests for road horsepower; acceleration and maximum speed tests under the supervision of Jan Norbye, Technical Editor, "Car and Driver" magazine.

The cars were a Chevy II Nova, Ford Thunderbird, Ford Falcon, Plymouth Fury, Pontiac Bonneville, Volkswagen. After being run 1000 miles with Slip, the six cars averaged 5.04% greater maximum speed up a slight incline, 5.08% greater acceleration from a standing-to-quarter-mile run (avg./best times in three runs per car).

Acceleration and maximum speed tests confirmed laboratory results. Slip makes even new cars run better. Tests certified by Heuer Timer Corp., New York, N. Y.

How to Use Slip

Run the engine to normal operating temperature. Then stop it and pour Slip down the oil filler pipe into the crankcase. Restart the engine and run for a minimum ten minutes to give the MoS_2 a chance to mix with the oil.

You should begin to notice the effect after 300 miles, perhaps sooner. One of these may be the necessity for a carburetor adjustment. The less friction, the greater the idling speed. If your car was idling rapidly before you added Slip, it may actually race afterward.

Add Slip Engine Lubricant every 6000 miles. You do not have to add Slip with every oil change. Slip lasts through oil changes.

The more you use Slip, the greater are the results. For this reason you may want to add another bottle just 2000 miles after the first. This helps build up a heavier plating of MoS_2 and provides an extra margin of performance, power and economy.

For new cars, add Slip after the 500-mile break-in.

Slip "G"

Slip "G" is for gears.

It reduces friction, wear and noise in transmissions, differentials and steering units. The effects are immediate. Shifting and parking are easier. There is no rattle, no hum, no whine when you drive.

"G" lasts up to 10,000 miles.

It's a different product than Slip Engine Lubricant. "G" uses a heavier multigrade base oil as a carrier. It has a different formula and different inhibitors to meet the different requirements of heat and pressure. Do not use Slip "G" in your engine.

Because Slip "G" reduces friction dramatically, it should not be used in automatic transmissions or in overdrive units. These units depend upon some friction to work properly. Nor should it be used in limited slip differentials.

For the complete booklet "The Fight Against Friction," write to: "Slip," R. M. Hollingshead Corp., 840 Cooper Street, Camden, New Jersey. Slip is made and sold by R. M. Hollingshead Corp., Camden, New Jersey; Sunnyvale, Calif.; Toronto, Can. for Slip Prods. Co., Ltd., London, England.

Available at service stations, car dealers and auto supply stores.

The average motorist will spend $5.38 a year for Slip and save over $15.00 in gas bills alone. Where else can you get 3 to 1 for your money just by asking for it? Ask for it. You'll feel the difference in your car within 300 miles.

Lagunitas Company Moving To Marin

Lagunitas Development Co., owner of the largest single parcel of land in the San Geronimo Valley for more than a half-century, will move its office to Marin County.

The firm had been headquartered in San Francisco since 1912 when it acquired the property from the Mailliard family. The office has been in the Russ Building since it was constructed in 1927.

Stephen J. McKee, a resident of San Anselmo and executive vice president and general manager of the company and its parent firm, the McKee Co., said quarters will be taken in the new Lincoln Maple Building at 1363 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael. The office is expected to be occupied about Oct. 7.

"My father and my grandfather before him always felt the business should be headquartered in San Francisco where the family lived," McKee said. "But for me, living in San Anselmo and with our treasurer, Albert Huber, living in Greenbrae, it doesn't make sense. We commute to the city and whenever anything has to be done in Marin we come right back again. All our other interests are in the Northwest and we can handle those from San Rafael as well as on Montgomery Street."

He added that with approching developments in San Gernonimo more of their time will be spent in Marin. Eventually it is planned to divide the land into homesites from one-half acre to 30 acres each in size. About 150 acres is being reserved for the San Geronimo Country Club, work on which will precede all other developments.

The country club, which has been quartered temporarily at 69 Redhill Avenue, San Anselmo, while securing memberships will share office space with Lagunitas Development Co.

"This does not mean we are interfering with its work or taking it over," McKee said. "But since we have certain mutual interests it is practical for us to be near each other."

Lagunitas Development Co. property comprises 5,500 acres. Its projected development is included in the recently accepted San Geronimo Valley Master Plan covering approximately 8,700 acres in the area.

Illustrator Dies

ROCKPORT, Mass. (UPI)—William Charles McNulty, 79, nationally known painter and illustrator and a teacher for 27 years in the art students league in New York, died yesterday.

The word "panic was inspired by the pagan deity of Greek mythology, Pan, whose trouble-making brought unreasoned terror to those he encountered.

Court Order Becalms All-Girl Crew Sailor

A San Rafael sailor, who wants to sail his 45-foot schooner and an all-girl crew to the South Seas, is already becalmed, right in San Rafael Yacht Harbor.

Judge Leonard A. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court knocked almost all the wind out of the sail yesterday afternoon with an order not to pull up anchor until the skipper meets his family obligations.

James R. Burke, 39, is on probation for failing to support his three children, daughters, 17 and 16, and a son, 11. They live in San Rafael with his former wife, who has remarried since their 1958 divorce.

Deputy Probation Officer Andy Andewiel hauled Burke into court yesterday and announced that the former wife wants at least $1,000 child support before Burke pulls anchor.

Judge Thomas ordered Burke grounded, at least until Oct. 10, when Burke must appear in court again, to report on how much he can pay toward child support.

Burke married his present wife, Delores, 28, last January.

Burke, a Navy veteran, has lived in Marin since 1949. He worked for various van and storage companies before launching his plans for the ocean voyage.

In other troubles yesterday, Burke asked San Rafael Police Officer Richard Douglas to throw one of his crew members, Margaret Kearney of Oakland, off his boat because "she has refused to obey orders and other miscellaneous commands."

He said he signed her on as a crew member on a non-paying basis. Douglas said Burke gave her $5 for transportation back to Oakland and promised to advance her $20 for a hotel room.

The maximum horizontal displacement of the 1906 earthquake was 21 feet near Olema, here in Marin, according to geologists.

Medical Advances Are Greater Boon To Women Than Men

Advances in medicine and in living conditions seem to have benefited American women more than men, at least as far as life expectancy is concerned, according to a report by the Institute of Life Insurance.

A girl born at the turn of the century, for instance, had an average life span of 48.3 years. For a boy, the comparable figure was 46.3. By 1950 life expectancy at birth had risen to 71.1 for women and 65.6 for men, and in the past decade women have gained another two years and men one, bringing the difference to 6.5 years.

The contrast appears to be even greater among city and suburban people (who generally enjoy above-average health care and living standards) and in the middle and upper income groups. The same trend is seen throughout the world: the more advanced the country, the greater the spread between male and female life expectancy.

There are several possible explanations for this, according to health authorities:

1. MODERN MEDICINE has made its greatest strides in controlling communicable diseases and has practically eliminated maternal deaths in childbirth. On the other hand, there's been relatively little progress in the area of degenerative diseases — heart and kidney ailments, cancer, hardening of the arteries, ulcers, etc. Women seem to have greater resistance than men to most of these diseases, which each year account for a larger share of deaths in the U.S. For example, many researchers believe that the female hormone, estrogen, helps protect young women against coronary attacks. Even among newborn babies, the death rate for girls is substantially lower than for boys, a strong indication that —as in the animal world in general—the female of the species starts out in life with a better chance for survival.

2. THERE'S CONSIDERABLE evidence that the pressures of civilization have been affecting the health of men more than that of women. Stress-related diseases (such as hypertension and certain heart and gastro-intestinal ailments) kill two to five times as many men as women, depending on age, and the number of suicides among men is about three times greater than among women.

3. WOMEN'S LIFE habits involve less exposure to major health risks. Accidents, for instance, take the lives of twice as many men as women. Heavy smoking and obesity, both regarded as contributing factors in many types of disease, are much more prevalent among men than women.

4. SURVEYS BY the U.S. Public Health Service showed that women were more likely than men to stay out of work, to consult doctors and to be confined in bed by illness. On the whole, they tended to be ill more often but less seriously than men. For example, women reported 15 per cent more acute respiratory conditions (flu, pneumonia, bronchitis, etc.) than men, and yet their death rate from those causes was 40 per cent lower than that of men.

Excluding pregnancy and related reasons, women between the ages of 15 and 64 average five doctor's visits a year, compared with less than four for men, and spend an average of 3.6 days a year in bed due to short-term illness or injury, compared with 2.6 for men.

Mrs. Robert Kennington Group's Second President

Second president of the young St. Isabella's Women's Guild of Terra Linda, Marinwood, and Lucas Valley, is Mrs. Robert Kennington, a relatively new Marin resident.

The Kenningtons—he's a former Army Lt. Colonel—chose Marin as the best place to live after his military retirement at Fort Ord two years ago. Other Kennington homes have been Germany, Georgia, Washington D.C., Kansas, and Jeanne's native North Carolina.

Jeanne Kennington served as president of the Officer's Wives Club in Munich. She was in charge of the fund raising for the Catholic Sodality in Munich, purchasing a Volkswagen bus, extra tires and a years supply of gasoline for an orphanage.

Right now the Kenningtons are on a month's vacation touring the Philippines, Japan and Hong Kong. Her task for the Guild is to purchase silks for vestments.

Current project of St. Isabella's Women's Guild is a Christmas fair, slated for Nov. 9 and 10. Workshops to create the holiday gifts and decorations are being held each Tuesday evening at the school multi-purpose room.

Other officers of the guild: Mesdames Robert Kunst, vice president; Lee Oster, secretary; Vivian Conway, treasurer; and Robert Wood, school coordinator.

Committee chairmen appointed by Mrs. Kennington include Mesdames James Hudson, hospitality; Eugene Naber, program; John Dougherty, protocol; Alfred O'Brien, sewing; Gerard Enright, spiritual; Henry Fuqua, telephone; Don McLaughlin, decorations; Anton Lonich and John McMillan, refreshments; and R. FACE IT

Mustache—Big And Bushy—Coming Back

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK(AP)—Wives may be faced with a ticklish situation soon. The mustache—big and bushy—is on its way back.

Members of the barbers' unions as well representatives of the trade press say it has been a gradual growing style for the past year, and indeed it may be a compromise between the beard enthusiasts and the clean shaven clans.

MOST VOCAL ABOUT the hairy lip is a former British barber whose name is Harry Kaye. Harry witnessed a similar trend toward the fringe on top of the lip when he was barbering in England a dozen years ago.

"It started with a trend toward Edwardian clothes then. At first a few people sneered at the mustache, but eventually it became the rage."

The clue that American males are following is the same bristly path across the lip is the growing interest in all things Victorian-decorated restaurants, and in men's clothes slim trousers, colorful jackets and striped shirts.

THE INCLINATION is unexplainably contradictory to the current emphasis on youth. A mustache invariably adds years to a man's appearance. Young men don't care, of course. The very young ones can't wait to prove they can grow a bumper crop of bristles. And maybe by the time men get to be middle-aged, they get too attached to part with them.

OUT OF STYLE is the thin, misplaced eyebrow mustache. The more profuse the fringe on the upper lip the better, Harry says. Blonds are less successful at cultivating them than brunet men. They are the most likey to produce troublesome and unattractively scraggly ones.

Although the mustache design must compliment the general facial characteristics of the wearer, the most popular mustache today is military-looking with waxed ends.

Mrs. Rainey Wed To Murray Baxter

Now making their home in Sleepy Hollow are Mr. and Mrs. Murray Baxter, the former Mrs. Dorothy Dickey Rainey, who were married recently at the Carson Valley Methodist Church. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. John Robie in the presence of relatives and a few close friends.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Fred Evans Dickey of San Anselmo and the late Mr. Dickey and has a daughter, Melissa. The bridegroom's father is W. J. Baxter of Spokane and his children are James Baxter of Corte Madera and Mrs. Lloyd B. Smith of Roseville.

THIS BRIGHT pink parka, insulated with polyester fiberfill, will give extra warmth without weight for lasting resilience. Butwin designs it with button-tab front, slant zipper pockets and a "foreign intrigue" belt. The muff-like hood keeps a girl looking pretty as well as feeling warm.

PRINT PARKAS are the newest fashion of the ski slopes this season, as exampled by this Walter Jerome creation. In a Delft blue toile cotton print, this parka is insulated with polyester fiberfill to insure warmth without weight and lasting shape.

MARCH AND Mendl follow the trend of fanciful fabrics resembling four-footed creatures in this three-quarter coat of curly pile fabric. The coat is of modacrylic and wool for extra warmth and durability without excess bulk.

The 'Ski Look' Sweeps Across The Season's Fashion Landscape

There are 4,000,000 skiers in this country today, and the number increases each year. Skiing was introduced in America by Norwegian immigrants in the 1850s. Their ancestors had skied through 50 centuries in the snowy north.

But skiing was not a sport until the 19th century in Norway, when farmers in the valley of Telemark held jumping competitions. They used loose straps to bind skis to their feet and a single, stout pole to control speed and to stop. No one ever jumped without a pole, in today's tradition, until 1868. That first jumper introduced the elegant "Telemark turn," angling one ski in front of the other and bringing both into a sharp swerve. This style of skiing spread to other alpine countries and remained until World War I, when Austrian troops invented the "snowplow" position and slow, steady turns. After the war, the three popular skiing styles remained the Telemark, the Swiss and the Austrian Arlberg systems.

THE FIRST AMERICAN skier to make history was a man called "Snowshoe" Thompson, who, more than a century ago, carried mail across the high Sierra peaks to link California and Nevada. The first American ski races were held in this area also at the end of the 19th century. But it wasn't until the 1930s that real interest in the sport picked up with the introduction of the ski lift. Today, there are 900 ski areas in the United States and Canada and the number continues to grow. There are 2,100 large inns and lodges . . . 10,000 retail outlets that sell ski clothes and skiing equipment.

It's generally agreed that those first American skiers were men. Even as few as 10 years ago, the sport was predominantly a man's activity. But girls go where the boys are. And, currently, 40 per cent of the ski enthusiasts are families. Many areas have added full time nurseries and family chalets.

TODAY, SKI WEEKENDS are family outings and the sport has brought with it a whole new way of casual living and dressing. One old-timer says that the look of the slopes has changed entirely in the past several years when it comes to fashion. "Everyone used to wear old pants and sweaters in blacks and browns or neutrals—now it's every color you can name and some you can't."

More than the colors of ski clothes have changed. Gone are the old wool pants — very "in" are stretch pants, flattering to almost everyone on the slopes or in repose. Out are the old slip-on sweaters—"in" are the bulky knits that have spread to almost every area of winter life. Even the parka is no longer just a serviceable protector from the wind. Now it's lined with fur or pile fabric pretenders and may have an outer shell that blossoms into print or tapestry. Even Dior's flowing cape style started on the ski slopes — skiers valued the style for its comfort and freedom of movement.

MANY A NEW PARKA is insulated with polyester fiberfill for extra warmth without weight, plus lasting resilience.

Printed parkas mark a big departure in new jacket designs. Walter Jerome offers a cotton toile print, in Delft blue, insulated with polyester fiberfill to insure warmth and lasting shape. The pattern is light and bright enough to gladden any winter slope.

PILE FABRIC pretenders are the biggest fashion news of the past few years, because of their luxurious look and feel, lightweight comfort and pleasing price. March and Mendl follow the trend with their three-quarter coat in a curly pile fabric woven modacrylic and wool. In brown and white, it's accented with brass buckles that disguise the snug zippered front. Brown suede adds a sporty touch to collar and front trim.

Since the leisure hours are also important on a ski weekend, has a "conversation piece" costume in a marvelous, long hair pile. Blond and shaggy, it's superlative in a long skirt and sleeveless weskit, set off by a soft crepe blouse. Fabric combines acrylic and modacrylic fibers. It will look fetching in front of the fireplace for many seasons, despite a number of cleanings.

Buttons 'In'

In a fashion story, this season, buttons cannot be ignored. They are definitely in—and far from introverted. On the scene, are leather buds, crocheted fancies, elongated, twisted and convex shapes.

Marin MAGAZINE
Bright reading for the whole week

Featured this Saturday:

It will be cars, cars and more cars in Marin this weekend as the Marin County Florence Crittenton Circle stages its big Concours d'Elegance Sunday at the Peacock Gap Golf and Country Club. The showing of elegant automobiles will be but part of the festivities. In recognition of the event, tomorrow's Independent-Journal Marin Magazine will contain several special stories for automobile buffs.

Fine homes as well as fine cars will also be featured in the I-J supplement tomorrow. As a special treat, you will be taken on a photographic tour of one of the model homes now open for public inspection at the huge Sar Marin development near Novato. It is Marin County's most-talked-about building program at a time when the entire county is bustling with construction activity.

Then, as a special added attraction, the magazine will tell you about a previously unpublicized experiment of the Sunny Hills Home and Treatment Center for emotionally disturbed children that has now been pronounced a success. It is a much-watched plan for group home-living that has seen six young girls living for two years under conditions that closely approximate normal family life.

Marin's own magazine . . . picturing and reporting life in Marin today . . . personalities, recreation, coming events, book reviews, gardening, music, home improvement, weekly TV log. A week of good reading. Look for it, Saturdays.

BULL RUN
Yes, there is enough land for your bull to run as he pleases (over 5 acres). And enough good grass so he doesn't have to battle anyone for the good grass. All this nice level parcel of land within walking distance to Sonoma. Price—only $3,200 an acre with terms.

REMEMBER THE ALAMO?
You probably will forget it, when you see this 8½ acre view parcel within a stones throw of the popular "springs area." Why keep the money in the bank? Terms, too. $2,500 per acre.

WATERLOO

WAR OF THE ROSES
In the entire Valley of the Moon we are pleased to offer one of its distinctive properties. 20 majestic unspoiled wooded acres frame the gracious dwelling. '55 Days At Peking' Opens Sunday

By LESLIE DARD

Here's a weekend look at Marin County film fare:

RAFAEL THEATER

"55 Days at Peking," which opens Sunday, is a spectacular look at the historic seige of Peking during the Boxer Rebellion of 1900.

The Boxers were a mutlitude of poorly equipped fanatics determined to drive the foreigners out of China. Encouraged and supported by the Dowager Empress (Flora Robson), they laid seige to Peking's International Compound where 11 legations who refused to leave were concentrated.

The 400 European troops were placed under unified command of a Marine major (Charlton Heston) and the head of the British legation (David Niven). Mostly just embassy guards, they nevertheless managed to stand off the attackers until arrival of an international army marching from the coast.

Dialogue is kept to a minimum as the film concentrates on spectacle, violence and fireworks. Outstanding visual effects are achieved in the fiery explosion of an arsenal, an attack on the huge compound gate with an ancient rocket launcher, a festive ball in the ornate British Legation and in the realistic reproduction of the Forbidden City.

Oh yes, besides leading his troops, the laconic Heston finds time to romance Ava Gardner, who plays a Russian baroness down to her last sapphire necklace—which she barters to help feed the beleaguered children.

NOVATO THEATER

The story of a SAC base in California and the behind-the-scenes drama of keeping America's retaliatory defenses at the ready opens Sunday at the Novato with "Gathering of Eagles."

Rock Hudson stars as a new commander trying to bring his group up to snuff after they fail readiness inspection. The plot revolves around how Hudson discovers—the hard way—that he must sacrifice friendships and loyalties in the national interest.

Photographed with the help of SAC, the film gives operational details that are both impressive and exciting as they reveal the tense, tough life by fliers and crews.

Sharing the bill with Hudson are Mary Peach as his wife, Rod Taylor as his second in command, Kevin McCarthy, Barry Sullivan and Leif Erickson.

Co-featured is "Tammy and the Doctor," with Sandra Dee and Peter Fonda.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

Now showing is the abovementioned "Gathering of Eagles" along with "The Ugly American," film version of the controversial best-seller.

Marlon Brando plays a new American ambassador to a fiction Southeast Asian country. He finds the country mopping up a revolution and in general turmoil. The novel was an episodic narrative, the film is a continuous dramatic story. The Stewart Stearn screen play keeps only the major theme and location, tossing the rest of the book away.

Sharing the leads with Brando are his sister, Jocelyn Brando, Pat Hingle and newcomer Sandra Church.

TAMALPAIS THEATER

An absorbing drame of race horses and the men who train, ride and own them goes on screen Sunday in "Wall of Noise," starring Ty Hardin, Suzanne Pleshette, Ralph Meeker and Dorothy Provine.

It's a low-budget film made at Hollywood Park, but its racing scenes—as well as those of track and stable environment—are among the best we've seen. Exciting moments of the race are filmed in a way that almost puts you on the horse's back, along with the jockey.

When this picture stays with the horses, it's a pleasure to watch. It only gets gummed up with humans, which perhaps is realistic.

Hardin plays a dedicated horse trainer, Dorothy Provine his former girl friend. Ralph Meeker plays a ruthless owner who employs Hardin, and has a come-hither type wife—Miss Pleshette—with whom Hardin quickly becomes preoccupied.

Co-featured is "The Castilian," a historic adventure involving the Spanish hero who united his countrymen to end the 200-year domination of the Moors. There's so much bloodshed it's surprising there are Spanish remaining to enjoy their freedom. Cesar Romero, Broderick Crawford and Frankie Avalon star.

LARK THEATER

If you have not yet seen "The L-Shaped Room," its long run at the Lark should be enough to convince you to make a special effort.

A stream of life so realistic, so poignant and so compelling moves through this fine British import that it easily rates among the finest.

Leslie Caron achieves dramatic distinction as the brave little French girl who comes to a London slum apartment to bear her illegitimate baby.

The oddly-shaped room proves a weird world of bizarre personalities. In their characterization the film achieves a unique charm.

Most heartily recommended, for adults.

101 DIVE-IN AND SEQUOIA THEATERS

An almost all-star cast participates in "For Love or Money" as many-talented Kirk Douglas turns his hand to sophisticated comedy. It moves to both theaters Sunday.

Douglas plays a lawyer offered a huge fee by millionairess Thelma Ritter if he can marry off her three beautiful daughters, Mitzi Gaynor, Julie Newmar and Leslie Parrish.

One wonders why this threesome couldn't do better fending for themselves. But that's show business.

Anyway, in the presence of such overpowering beauty, Douglas goes all putty-ish. He generally makes a mess of things, then inexplicably winds up as one of the husbands.

Gig Young, William Bendix and Richard Sargent share support.

Settings are mostly around San Francisco, beautiful in color.

MOTOR MOVIES

"El Cid" moves back to Marin Sunday, a thundering epic of the days of knighthood in 11th century Spain.

The story is that of the Spanish national hero who brought the country's warring factions together to fight fanatical North African invaders. He believed good men should be on the same side, and devoted his life to bringing it about.

The story is fascinating, but it is in the telling that this film excels. Photography is striking, and makes full use of Spain's grandeur.

Charlton Heston gives great stature to his title role, certainly one of his best screen efforts. Sophia Loren is as usual outstanding as the wife who first hates him, then loves him devotedly. Raf Vallone is strong as an enemy-turned-friend.

FAIRFAX THEATER

Two major films are back:

"Whatever Happened to Baby Jane?" teams two of Hollywood's top feminine talents, Joan Crawford and Betty Davis, in a bizarre story of two aging actresses who inhabit an old mansion in the film capital.

Co-featured is "Gypsy," the musical story of Gypsy Rose Lee and the dominant mother who sought her second chance at fame through her daughters.

Starring are Ethel Merman, Natalie Wood (as Gypsy) and Karl Malden. A dozen bouncy show tunes and beautiful color photography make this one fun.

Ex-Newsman Gets Top Transit Post Over Opposition

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Despite a vigorous protest from San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit Director Harry L. Morrison Jr., B. R. Stokes was named general manager of the rapid transit operation at an open meeting yesterday.

Stokes, former Oakland Tribune reporter, originally was retained as the district's information director in 1958, and became assistant general manager in October, 1961.

His selection was opposed by Morrison on the basis that the board "failed even to consider any of the other 12 persons who applied for the job."

Receiving a new annual salary of $31,000, Stokes replaces John M. Pierce, who resigned Aug. 22 to become treasurer-comptroller of the rapid transit district.

Art, Garden Fair Press Aide Quits

Charlotte Riznik, publicity director for the Marin Art and Garden Fair for 15 years, has resigned her post.

Her resignation, dated July 12, was accepted Wednesday night by the executive committee of the fair board. She will continue in her duties as publicity director of the Art and Garden Center in Ross.

Mrs. Riznik, of San Rafael, said today that her resignation resulted from the increasing press of her duties as a reporter for the San Francisco Chronicle.

The Constitution earned her nickname "Old Ironsides" in the War of 1812 when solid shots bounced off her oaken sides in a battle with the Guerriere.

Twin Cities Dance Lessons Changed

Dance classes scheduled for Saturday by the Larkspur-Corte Madera Dance Cooperative have been reset for Wednesday, beginning at 3:30 p.m., at the home of director Ann Halprin on Ravine Way, Kentfield.

Seventh and eighth grade classes will be held Monday at her home.

Marinite Appointed Handicapped Director

Walter Winter of 34 Southridge Road, Tiburon, has been appointed to the board of directors of the California League for the Handicapped, it was announced today by executive director Rose Resnick.

The league instructs handicapped youth in useful skills.

Geronimo Horsemen Slate Trail Test

The San Geronimo Valley Horsemen's Assn. will hold its fifth annual trail test and barbecue Oct. 6 at its riding ring near Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Woodacre.

The competition is open to the public and will test hores and rider ability to pass over and through obstacles which might be found riding on trails. The contest will begin at 11 a.m., followed by a chicken barbecue in the afternoon.

HANDWRITING AS ART FORM—Examples of calligraphy are shown by Redwood High School teacher Phillip Pease. They are a part of an exhibit placed in the school library until Oct. 15. Pease has started after-school classes in calligraphy for Redwood students. (Redwood High School photo)

Calligraphy Interest Sparked At Redwood

An interest in the art of fine writing on the part of a Redwood High School English teacher has sparked exhibits, classes, and speeches centering around calligraphy at the Larkspur campus.

The teacher is Philip Pease, a proponent of the art of calligraphy, or italic handwriting, which he says was first used at the Vatican during the 16th century. It was completely forgotten until the 1880s when interest was aroused and study of the subject began.

Nowadays this writing is used on book covers and posters, for designs and lettering, and perhaps most tellingly in personal handwriting.

Pease, English teacher and assistant librarian at Redwood, has arranged for all activities on the subject at the school, starting with a large exhibit in the library. The exhibit was previously shown at Stanford University and part of it was recently at the San Francisco Public Library. It contains examples of Italic printing in everything from personal letters to printed sonnets.

Many posters are shown in the exhibit, and aside from examples of Italic handwriting in school homework papers, these interest Redwood students the most. According to Pease, posters can be made a great deal faster with this italisized writing than by other conventional means.

This type of writing has recently been taught successfully in many British schools and private Eastern schools, beginning with third graders, he said.

With the assistance of Thomas La Montea, Redwood art instructor, Pease is starting a series of classes in Italic writing for Redwood students.

Also Pease has seen that the Redwood student store will stock paperback books on calligraphy as well as inexpensive fountain pens with blunt points for prospective Italic handwriters to purchase.

Medics Urged To Learn How To Treat Pesticide Victims

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Urging that doctors prepare themselves to treat such cases, a State Health Department physician described three human deaths that resulted from pesticide poisoning in California.

At least one of the deaths could have been prevented by proper medical treatment, according to Dr. Irma West of the health department's bureau of occupational health. She discussed the cases at the 23rd annual Congress on Occupational Health, sponsored by the American Medical Assn.

Dr. West described these cases:

1. Peter Grant, a crop-duster pilot, walked away from a crash of his plane near Watsonville. Minutes later he collapsed and died, poisoned by the dust of an organic pesticide in his plane. An ambulance attendant, a pathologist and a mortician later became ill from handling his body, but all recovered.

2. A young farm worker in Merced, wearing gloves and a face mask, was pouring and mixing deadly parathion. He rested his hands on his thighs, and the poison was quickly absorbed through the clothing into his skin. He began to vomit, and strangled before he could remove his gas mask.

3. A 16-year-old boy and an Air Force enlisted man were spraying a strawberry field near Fremont when they became ill. They had been using a primitive hand duster with a poison called phosdrin.

The airman became ill first, went home and later reported to Oakland Naval Hospital, where he was treated and released.

The boy became ill later. He went to a Fremont physician, who treated him briefly and released him. Then he became worse, and the doctor had him hospitalized.

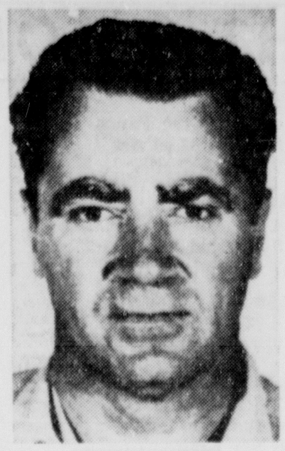
Dr. West said the physician then checked the pesticide label but failed to follow the antidote instructions—and the boy died.

Boys Report Rattlesnake

There's a rattlesnake in Marinwood, says 11-year-old Duane Wallace.

Duane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Wallace, 290 Blackstone Drive, called the Independent-Journal to report that he and three other boys saw the snake Tuesday just beyond the dead end of Blackstone.

"We saw the rattles shakin' up and down," he said. "Then we ran."



CARL CLOSE
Off the list

One Of Nation's 10 Most Wanted Criminals Nabbed

ANDERSON, S. C. (UPI)—Carl Close, a stocky bank robbery suspect placed on the FBI's list of 10 most wanted criminals Wednesday was captured yesterday three minutes after he robbed a bank of $28,262.

Close, sought in connection with armed bank robberies in Baltimore, Md., and Roanoke, Va., earlier this year, was arrested by two detectives when he tried to switch cars a block and a half from the Main Street drive-in branch of the First National Bank.

Close, who once vowed he would not be taken alive, offered no resistance when detective Julian Jones held a shotgun on him.

Variations to a Similar Theme

New car announcements never fail to excite this particular automotive malaprop. You'd think some 16 previous events would elicit little more than a yawn and condescending acquiescence to the factories' animated protestations of perfection. You'd think so, except this kook is different, remember?

I get the fever, in the non-jazzical lyrics of Peggy Lee. I marvel at the evolutionary refinements the cautious designers have created. I love the smell of the new car with the still-empty ash tray and the glove box with no trace of spilled face powder, dog-eared road maps, part of last week's wash—but no gloves.

But, most of all, I anticipate the endless stream of faces, old and young, strange and familiar, friendly and critical, that will come into our Ames Ford showroom to view the latest in mechanical marvels. I even like the nut who comes in just to kick the tires, each in turn, in eager hope that one will explode with a tremendous roar. And, the guy who looks 'em all over, oh, so throughly, and, finally proclaims in the awe-inspiring tones of the prophet that the entire line-up is a complete bust, and last years' models were much more attractive.

I like better the individual who will dare us to permit him to drive one of our Fords, just for curiosity, you understand. He's not really interested, you understand, since he's driven only Chevrolets or Pontiacs or Buicks or even Chryslers, and, after-all, how could Ford possibly compare with these products? I like more his amazed, if perplexed expression when he returns from his jaunt.

I like it a little more when this same individual asks the price of this revelation in engineering he always thought was exclusive with his own brand. And, I double up with pleasure when he drives away in his own new Ford, beaming broadly. This pleasure increases immeasurably when his friend, relative, or neighbor of this new enlightened Ames Ford customer is brought in by the hand to buy his new Ford from us.

But, life is not all peaches and cream. Or, even pickles and ice cream, if that is your inclination. Some people disappoint me. Some people aggravate me. Some people drive me to the point of utter and complete distraction. And, all of these SOME people are those who drive right past our store, past six or seven other car dealers in Marin County, and stop to kick the tires, drive the cars, become enchanted, and even buy their new cars in the "city"—without even checking out the possibility this purchase has cost him several hundred additionsl dollars. Then, this same noble citizen parks his car with his "foreign" license plate frames in his driveway, and deplores with his neighbor the rising real estate tax burden and the lack of civic improvements in his county.

Without the additional revenues of sales taxes and license fees, and, not incidently, the purchasing power of locally-employed auto dealership men and women, this civic-unminded individual will never exhaust his tax and unimprovement lament with his neighbor.

And, the O. Henry twist is he could have bought his new Ford for $200.00 less from Ames Ford.
